Glickman Announces Milk Marketing Order Reforms

WASHINGTON, D C - U S Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman on Wednesday announced a major overhaul of the 60-year-old federal milk marketing order program

According to Glickman, the overhaul will significantly streamline and improve the nation's wholesale milk pricing system

"These reforms will help make sure that America's dairy farmers receive a fair price and that American consumers continue to enjoy an abundant, affordable supply of milk," said Glickman "Our changes will also simplify the wholesale milk pricing system, making it more market-oriented and more equitable "

The milk marketing order program is designed to ensure the fair marketing and pricing of milk It is not a dairy support program The current dairy support program expires on Dec 31, 1999, unless Congress chooses to extend it

Milk marketing orders classify milk by use, set minimum prices that handlers must pay for each class of milk, and provide for paying average prices to all dairy farmers who supply a particular region

Though the program does not set retail prices, these reforms are expected to reduce the average price of drinking milk by about two cents per gallon

The announced reforms include

- Consolidating the current 31 federal milk marketing orders into 11
- Replacing the basic formula price (BFP), which is currently used to establish

Decision To Try Soybeans Instead Garners State Trophy For E-town Producer

ANDY ANDREWS

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — Some blame bad plant population and low yields on the weather. Could you also "blame" the weather for a prize-winning soybean yield?

Because of wet conditions late in the spring last year, Jim Hershey, who grows about 50 acres of full-season and another 65 acres of double-crop soybeans on his hog and broiler farm near Elizabethtown, decided field corn wouldn't do. The fields took a while to dry out enough to plant anything.

So instead of corn, Hershey opted for soybeans on some of his best fields.

As a result of the decision, some of his better acres turned a state prize-winning yield last season. Hershey came in first place in the Pennsylvania Soybean Yield Contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania Soybean Promotion Board.

A member of the Pennsylvania Soybean Growers Association, Hershey attributes the award-winning yield to what turned out to be a good growing season after all.

"We had good growing conditions after it finally stopped raining last spring," Hershey said. "I give the Lord credit for that."

Soybean yields towered to 80.2 bushels per acre using Pioneer STS 9421 at his farm. Those yields come from a 3-acre plot in a 20-acre field selected for the contest before the harvest date.

Overall the weather improved tremendously, resulting in corn yield checks of more than 200 bushels per acre on some spots, noted Hershey. This despite a drought year that affected yields tremendously throughout the region.

Windy-Knoll-View Farm Exhibits Grand Champion

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The grand champion of last week's 46th Pennsylvania Holstein Association state spring show in Harrisburg was 7-year-old Windy-Knoll-View GDD Topaz, bred and owned by James and Nina Burdette of Windy-Knoll-View Holsteins in Mercersburg.

In making his selection, show judge Curtis Day of Shippensburg said he was going to depart from what others may consider to be his usual tendencies in cattle judging, and he selected Topaz, the first-place 125,000-pound-class cow.

(The 125,000-pound-class is a competitive class restricted to entry by only those cows that have documented production of at least that amount of milk in a lifetime. It is uncommon, but certainly not unexpected, for a grand champion to be selected from an entry in that competitive class.)

The Pa. Holstein Association's spring state show at the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg started the registered Holstein showing season. There were 207 head checked in for the show, held March 26.

For the rest of the show season, a series of regional shows are to be held, culminating with the fall state show held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show (PAADS), in Harrisburg.

The Burdettes won several awards last week. Not only did Windy-Knoll-View exhibit the grand champion, also the best owned and bred, but they received the premier breeder and premier

EASTERN REGION FROZEN EGGS, MARCH 26, 1999. FEDERAL-STATE

White and blend prices were unchanged, and all other categories were mostly lower. The market tone was steady on whites, and barely steady to weak on the balance. Demand continued light. Supplies were at least adequate. Liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspection in the Eastern region for the week ending March 20, 1999 were 1% less than last week, and 8% less than the same week last year. Shell egg supplies were adequate to available.

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds remained mired in sluggish activity. Seller offerings were readily available, particularly on the 3 pound and heavier weights Live supplies were at least moderate, weights were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to moderately heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were 1 cent lower at 46 to 60 cents. Trade sentiment was barely steady to weak. In the parts complex, fully adequate supplies of breast items were clearing satisfactorily at most plants. Leg cuts and wings remained readily available and competitively priced in an effort to stimulate activity.

USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Planting intention estimates and stocks are in and prices fall sharply lower. Wheat 7 to 18 cents lower. Corn 6 to 8 cents lower. Sorghum 12 cents lower. Soybeans 14 to 18 cents lower. Wheat bids were sharply lower as USDA numbers showed a sharp increase in unwanted durum acreage and more spring wheat than expected. Additional weakness came from fund selling on the board. Wheat stocks were above trade estimates and export demand slowed down. Continued pressure from favorable growing weather in winter wheat growing areas, also a factor. The USDA grain stocks figures released today will likely force USDA to increase projected corn ending stocks in April's report. Planting intentions were close to trade guesses. Favorable planting weather was also a pressure factor in corn bids. Soybean bids declined, despite lower than expected planted acreage estimates. The figure was about a million below what was expected, 73.1 million. Soybean meal and oil demand was down and export sales have been nil this week. Spillover weakness from wheat and corn added to the lower bids.

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

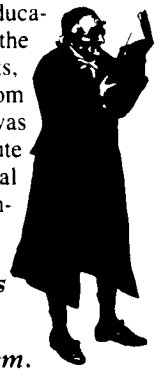
T FOR TALIAFERO

Taliafero was Booker T Washington's middle name, given to him on his birthday, April 5, 1856 Born in Virginia to a slave mother and free white father, Booker grew up to become a famous educator and renowned speaker He attended the Hampton Institute while working nights, and later was given honorary degrees from Dartmouth and Harvard Washington was chosen to organize the Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, and emphasized industrial training as a means to economic independence for blacks



No race can prosper till it learns that there is as much dignity in tilling a field as in writing a poem.

– B T Washington

TIP OF THE WEEK

SPRING TRIFLE

1 loaf vanilla pound cake
1 cup strawberry preserves
16 ounces vanilla yogurt
2 cups fresh strawberries, hulled
1 cup sliced bananas
2 tablespoons chopped walnuts or almonds

Place thick slices of pound cake into the bottom of a deep-sided glass dish Spread cake slices with strawberry preserves Add more slices part way up the sides of the bowl, fill with yogurt, reserving ½ cup Slice the fresh strawberries, reserving 3 to 4 whole strawberries as a garnish Layer on sliced strawberries and sliced bananas, then top with remaining yogurt and sprinkle with the nuts. Garnish with the whole strawberries Chill and serve

Makes 8 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

There are a hundred days of easterly wind in the first half of the year.

Cloudy April, dewy May.

A dry April is not the farmer's will; rain in April is what he wills.

Snow in April is manure; snow in March devours.

In the dairy business income over feed cost is the name of the game Pro-Lix liquid feed supplements offer dairymen the means to maximize this value while getting the most from their cow s natural abilities

Pro-Lix liquid feed supplements are concentrated sources of just what ordinary feeds lack protein, energy vitamins minerals -- everything animals need for economical milk production and growth

For replacement heifers Pro-Lix means faster maturity and assurance that they ll get to the milking herd on time If you trust your heifers to forage alone, they might not make it (Bouvatec Is Available)

For lactating cows the nitrogen content of Pro-Lix means plenty of protein available for milk production and growth

Finally, for dry cows Pro-Lix not only helps maintain their health during the dry period it prepares them for the next lactation The Ca P ratio in Pro-Lix helps control milk fever while the Vitamin E and selenium aids in clean-up after the birth of a calf

Best of all Pro-Lix works with all types of pasture grass or forage, as a free-choice supplement a top-dressing, or a ration mix

The payoff is healthier animals and economical production, all year round!

OPINION

The Prophet's Easter Story

WHO hath believed our report? And to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief; and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned everyone to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

He was taken from prison and from judgment; and who shall declare his generation? For he was cut off out of the land of the living; for the transgression of my people was he stricken.

And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither, was any deceit in his mouth.

Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him; he hath put him to grief; when thou shalt make his soul and offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied; by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities.

Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death; and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bore the sin of many; and made intercession for the transgressors — Isaiah 53, Holy Bible.

Clocks Should 'Spring Forward' Tonight

The old saw, "spring forward, fall back" has arrived for your clocks. Time has come to change from Eastern Standard Time to Daylight Saving Time. We "spring forward" one hour at 2 a.m. on Easter Sunday morning, April 4. So turn your clocks ahead one hour before going to bed Saturday night. Some say that springing ahead means you lose that one hour of sleep, though sunlight lasts a lot longer in the day. Animal feeding and milking schedules need to be adjusted accordingly.

Now Is The Time

To Sign-Up For Milk Payment

Dairy farmers who marketed milk during the fourth quarter of 1998 are eligible to receive a price deficient payment. Eligible dairy producers may receive a direct payment per hundredweight (cwt.) on the first 26,000 cwt. of milk marketed commercially.

Each dairy operation has a choice of using 1997 or 1998 calendar year milk marketings for the base period The actual payment rate will be determined after sign-up and will be calculated by dividing the amount available by the total eligible cwt. of milk from all approved dairy operations. To sign-up persons representing dairy operations that were marketing milk during the fourth quarter of 1998 must apply for the Dairy Market Loss Assistance Program (DMLA) at your local Farm Service Agency office. The sign-up period is between April 12, 1999 and May 21, 1999 For more information on this program, contact your Farm Service Agency office or your county cooperative extension office

To Recognize Environmental Efforts

Sometime in the past 15 years, American farmers crossed an auspicious environmental boundary They began reducing the level of atmospheric carbon dioxide rather than adding to it Carbon dioxide is one of the green house gases thought to cause global warming. A new USDA Agricultural Research Service study shows that farmers have shifted from being net producers of carbon dioxide to net accumulators of carbon, in the form of valuable soil organic matter The changeover was due largely to farmers' increasing abandonment of the moldboard plow The plow inverts soil to a depth of 8 to 12 inches The inversion buries recent stubble and crop residues where microbes decompose it into carbon forms easily converted to carbon dioxide.

This carbon dioxide can escape into the atmosphere As farmers put aside the moldboard plow, they leave nearly all the residue on the soil surface Here the residue readily decays into organic matter, a more stable carbon compound.

To Save for Retirement

Do not pass up the greatest financial benefit available Dr Robert Thee, Lancaster County Resource Management Agent, reminds us, if you are between 25 and 34 years old, a $1,000 per year investment at 8 percent will yield more than $150,000 when you turn 65.

Choose a favorable tax fund, such as a tax sheltered IRA, 401(k) or 403(b) plan. IRAs are available to all working Americans or choose 401(k), company retirement savings plans for employees or 403(b), retirement plans for employees of public schools and non-profit charitable organizations. See your employer or the personal officer where you work about contributing to a 401(k) or 403(b), because payments are deducted from your paycheck.

You must take the initiative to start an IRA or Individual Retirement Account. Financial advisors (certified public accounts, bankers, certified financial planners, etc.) can help with making choices for retirement income.

A PERSONAL EASTER MESSAGE
April 4, 1999

Background Scripture:
John 18 through 29
Devotional Reading:
Acts 2:32-39

I read somewhere that, during the days of the Soviet Union, some Russian Orthodox churches were permitted to have Easter services because Communist officials reasoned that something so ancient as the Easter liturgy couldn't have any effect upon the opinions and actions of a handful or worshippers. A contemporary scholar has commented that the Soviets couldn't have really understood the meaning of Easter or they would have had to ban it completely.

The Soviets — and probably many others — failed to understand that the Easter gospel is not just about a startling event that took place almost 2,000 years ago. Properly understood and experienced, Easter is contemporary good news about people and situations today. More than just a corporate liturgy, Easter comes to each of us with revolutionary power for this very year, month and day.

Part of Easter's personal message to me — and you — is the relevance of what immediately preceded the resurrection: the passion and crucifixion of our Lord Jesus Christ. This, too, is not just about a man who suffered unjustly and was put to death in the third decade of the first century A.D. The crucifixion is about us, too, in 1999.

THE STUMBLING-BLOCK

The stumbling-block of Christianity has always been the passion and death of Jesus. Here was a man so spiritually powerful that he could heal disease and cast out demons. Here was also a man so innocent, so loving, yet so despised by so many. Christians still want to know: why did such a man go to the cross? (If we can understand that, then perhaps we will understand the crosses in our own lives.

Some may reason that Jesus had no choice, that fate, divine will, providence decreed his death. It is obvious that Jesus could have avoided both Jerusalem and the cross, staying in Galilee or sojouning out in the wilderness of Judea. But, if Jesus had no choice, then he would simply be a victim with no power to bring redemption to anyone.

Others, taking an opposite tack would say Jesus sought to be a martyr. But I don't believe that either. Why would he have prayed in the Garden of Gethsemane for "this cup" to be taken from him?

Still others will hold that Jesus died on Calvary because God willed it for his own purposes. But that would make the passion and deaht of Jesus nothing more than a cruel charade. God would be the author of the evil that overlook Jesus at Calvary.

I believe the reason Jesus died on Calvary was that, while he did not seek death, and while his death was the will of men, not God, Jesus would not betray his mission for the sake of saving his life. What made his crucifixion inevitable was his obedience to God's call and its collision course with the malevolence of those who crucified him.

WHAT'S IT TO US?

So what is so personal about all of the above? How dies it apply to us as well as Jesus? The answer: we can approach life with the same obedience that we see exemplified in Jesus Christ. We don't seek suffering and we don't believe God wills that we suffer. But there are times when remaining faithful to the good news in Jesus Christ leads us to a cross. As Jesus did, we can experience our crosses with the same faithfulness and compassion with which Jesus experienced his. Calvary, then, is a very current and personal message about how to live faithfully in our world today.

Furthermore, the resurrection of Jesus is a personal and current message about living victoriously in this world of today. The enemies of our Lord did their very worst to him, but the resurrection proved that their worst was not powerful enough. Their worst was not more powerful than his best. That is no less true today!

The resurrection appearance of Jesus to Mary also has a contemporary message for us. Notice that when Jesus first appeared to her, "she did not know that it was Jesus" (20:14b). Even after Jesus began to talk to her, she didn't recognize the Lord, "supposing him to be the gardener." It was only when, instead of addressing her as "woman," Jesus said "Mary," that she realized it was Jesus standing before her. The resurrection faith is always and ever a matter of faith, not scientific logic and testability.

By that faith, the resurrection of Jesus Christ becomes a very personal message, showing us how to live victoriously in the very world we live in today.

Get Something Extra With The SMART Package PLUS From Chore-Time

Chore-Time's complete package of feeding, watering and ventilation equipment just got even better thanks to the "extras" you get with Chore-Time's new PLUS feeders:

✚ New MODEL C2® PLUS has modified labor-saving feed windows, new feed saving pan design, and reinforced wear areas.

✚ New MODEL H2™ PLUS adjusts the feed level on each 300 feet (92 meters) of feeder line with the turn of a single handle. New pan assembly design helps improve feed conversion.

✚ New MODEL G™ PLUS features a plastic grill and new feed-saving pan shape for even better performance.

Shaping the future with 4-H and FFA.

First Union's Agri-Finance Department is proud to support 4-H and FFA members and programs. We believe preserving the family farm is one of the most effective ways to ensure a betters future for everyone. So First Union is committed to working with young people and supporting their goals.

With guidance and encouragement, they will develop the skills and values they'll need to be successful in farming or wherever their lives take them. And their achievements will benefit us all.

EARN $5,000 IN 30 DAYS

IF I COULD SHOW YOU A SIMPLE AND EASY WAY TO EARN $5,000 YOUR FIRST MONTH - WOULD YOU BE INTERESTED?"

➤ If your answer is "YES", we cordially invite you to our Company's Grand Opening in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. You will be shown how to create a sizeable income in your local area by taking advantage of a rapidly increasing market trend. Our simple marketing system - which can easily be mastered - has created phenomenal success for our associates and our company. Our company has been debt free and successful since 1993.

➤ Our track record speaks for itself. In the last seven years our company has helped thousands of individuals develop first month incomes of $5,000 to $15,000. Hundreds of others have gone on to create incomes over $100,000 and more their first year. We welcome ambitious persons that are looking for a way to improve their financial future. Our service is so unique that we will have no competition in the expansion program that is now underway in Central Pennsylvania. This is a local opportunity and no travel will be necessary. There are No Products to sell and No inventory to stock. Best of all, you don't need any experience-- because we will train you. Extra pay for Area and Regional Directors.

CATTLE Compared to last week's close, slaughter steers and heifers sold weak to mostly .50 lower. This week's market started out on a higher note, but progressively weakened as the week continued The reduced slaughter rates (including Kosher kill) due to the Easter holiday, hurt demand late in the week. Western feedlots sold steady to 1.00 higher this week from 64.00-65.00 and 103.00-104.00. Local Holstein steer prices were fully steady, with the exception of the light-weight lean types that returned to normal, after last week's high demand. Slaughter cows closed mostly 1 00 to 1.50 lower and slaughter bulls ended the week 3.00-5.00 lower with the lack of the religious holiday demand. Supply included 29 percent slaughter steers, 5 percent slaughter heifers, 56 percent slaughter cows, 8 percent slaughter bulls, with the balance made up of feeder cattle.

Keystone Farm Credit Reports Another Strong Year

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Keystone Farm Credit had an outstanding year with an earnings increase of 22 percent from last year to more than $6.5 million.

That's not the only good news. According to the financial services cooperative's president, the association took advantage of funds allocated by the association to ensure automated and other services are year 2000-ready.

"We will continue to test to ensure (the system) moves smoothly into the next century," said Philip W. Kimmel, president of the cooperative.

Kimmel spoke Tuesday night to approximately 575 patrons and friends at the annual stockholders' meeting at Yoder's Restaurant in New Holland.

This was the second consecutive year for the earnings increase. The amount of new loans increased 6 percent. Kimmel outlined several other factors which contributed to a good year for the cooperative.

Key capitol net worth continued to grow. This month, $5.4 million, representing more than 18 percent of the amount of interest earned by the association on borrower loans in 1998, will be returned to the cooperative's stockholders as patronage.

Patronage refund is 20 percent higher than 1997.

Kimmel said that checks will be mailed to stockholders "sometime next week," and will be paid as follows: 30 percent of the refund will be paid to each stockholder in cash. The remaining 70 percent will be held by the association as allocated surplus.

In the financial statement available at the meeting, Kimmel noted in his message that "it is the board's intent to revolve or pay the 1998 allocated surplus after five years," he wrote.

"During this time, these proceeds are used to help the association maintain a sound financial position and reduce the association's cost of borrowing the funds which we, in turn, loan to our customers."

Kimmel noted that the company's financial strength continued to grow, pointing to continued growth in the financial management service and real estate appraisal services. The cooperative's alliance with American Express Financial Advisors continues to be an industry model. And adjustments were made to continue the strong position.

To do so, Kimmel noted, some long-term strategies need to be considered. He said that the board is examining the mergers of several Farm Credit boards throughout the region, decisions he said were made to gain efficiency. The board believes customers can be served just as well from other offices.

Kimmel said, "The board is exploring the possibility of mergers with other Farm Credit associations," and noted they are "open to options." But Keystone Farm Credit stockholders will have the final say, he reminded them at the meeting.

Keystone Farm Credit conducted meetings at two separate locations this week, including one

Marc Hardy, motivational speaker, talked about the importance of looking at the reasons behind all the personal pitfalls that can occur in life.

Farm Credit Elects Directors

AVONDALE (Chester Co.) — Keystone Farm Credit, headquartered here, released the names of new directors elected early this week at two stockholder meetings, one in Fogelsville and the other in New Holland.

In region 1, comprised of Berks Bucks, Carbon, Chester, Delaware, Lehigh, Monroe, Montgomery, Northampton, Philadelphia, Pike, and Schuylkill counties, newly elected position 1 director is Kenneth L. Hershey, Oxford. Hershey, farming for 45 years, with 150 acres, serves as vice chairman of the Lower Oxford Township board of supervisors.

In position 2, new director is Rodger L. Wagner, Oley. Wagner, farming for 39 years, has a dairy operation with 180 cows, 150 replacement heifers, and 750 acres of corn, alfalfa, and soybeans. He is a member of the Berks County Dairy Farmers Association and Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, Fleetwood Grange, Genex Breeders Cooperative, and others. He serves on the Oley Township Ag Advisory Committee.

In region 2, comprised of Dauphin, Lancaster, and Lebanon counties, newly elected position 1 director is Mervin Sauder, Lititz. Sauder has been farming for 41 years. He has a dairy farm and also feeds hogs and operates a layer house. He is past president of the Lancaster County Holstein Association.

In position 2, Dale R. Hershey, Manheim, was elected director. Hershey has been farming for 19 years. Hershey is a partner in Hershey Brothers, a dairy. They milk 200 cows and farm 500 acres. Hershey is a member of Akron Mennonite Church, Manheim Young Farmers Association, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, and Land O' Lakes Cooperative, where he serves as cooperative unit delegate.

Hershey has served as president and vice president of the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension board and secretary of the Lancaster County DHIA.

Nominating committee election results are: region 1, position 1, Floyd W. Kurtz, Fleetwood, Berks County; position 2, Leon D. Kurtz, Cochranville, Chester County; region 2, position 1, Leon E. Ziegler, Myerstown, Lebanon County; position 2, Earl S. Weaver, New Holland, Lancaster County.

On the ballot for the proposed bylaw change, stockholders voted yes for the bylaws to be amended as presented in the annual meeting information statement.

Cost-Share Program Grows

HACKETTSTOWN, N.J. — The Warren County Soil Conservation District and the Natural Resource Conservation Service have announced the third sign-up of the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) and the New Jersey Conservation Cost-Share Program.

Established in the 1996 Farm Bill, EQIP and the New Jersey Conservation Cost-Share programs provide voluntary plans for farmers to conserve water, soil, and related natural resources. Nationally these programs provide technical, financial, and educational assistance to install or implement structural, vegetative, and management practices within a five- to 10-year contract period. Warren County farms will fall into either the Statewide Program Area or the Upper Delaware/Raritan Watershed Priority Area.

The Upper Delaware/Raritan Watershed Priority Area has a mix of agricultural operations that vary considerably in type and size. This priority area was selected based on its importance to the state's fish and wildlife resources, wetland resources, surface water supply, and farm family heritage. Farming enterprises range from grain production, dairy and beef operations, orchard crop and small fruits and vegetables to poultry operations, horse breeding farms, and nursery operations.

The total dollar amount available in this program is approximately $2.3 million. The money allocated to the Upper Delaware/Raritan Watersled is roughly one-third of that total amount, and already 51 Warren County farmers have signed up for conservation contracts on their farms this year.

Suggested conservation practices for cost-share support fall into three categories: water quality, soil resources, and watershed ecosystem protection and enhancement. Cost-share incentives will be available as a percentage of actual cost to install (up to 75 percent) or as an incentive payment in the case of management practices.

Farmers or farmland owners may contact the NRCS in Hackettstown at (908) 852-5450 ext. 3 or the Warren County SCD at (908) 852-2579 to obtain information on this program.

Keystone Farm Credit Reports Another Strong Year

Monday evening at the Holiday Inn and Conference Center in Fogelsville. Directors were also elected. They are included in a story this issue of Lancaster Farming.

At the Tuesday night meeting, Marc Hardy, "employee, business owner, and actor" spoke about the importance of looking at the reasons behind all the personal pitfalls that can occur in life.

The author of two books and co-host of the TV show "Bouncing Back," Hardy spoke about family life in northern Indiana and how he wanted to be "just like Dad," he said.

His own father, Melvin Hardy, was picked to be center-stage as master of ceremonies for many town and county events. Marc became infatuated with the idea of communicating his ideas and helping people.

To do so, Hardy noted his attempts at acting in a school play, when he failed to get the part; about playing football unsuccessfully, ending up getting a crushed fourth vertebra and getting a "whole new perspective on life," he said; about how it all came full circle, when he was asked to try out for a high school play, turned it down because of an embarrassing turn of events, and being challenged by the teacher, who told him "it takes a lot of guts and obviously you don't have any;" and watching his father stand up and applaud Marc in the play for his courage to follow his heart.

On Aug. 4, 1977, Marc had a chance to live his dream and was to star in his first professional show. He spoke to his mother on the phone, who told him his father had died at a heart attack.

Marc was 22 years old at the time — his father, 44.

"So many times there were things I wanted to say, that I never did. I never got the opportunity to," noted Marc, who became angry at his father's death, "angry at everybody," he said.

But his mother told him, "everything happens for a reason." For a while, Marc said he thought that "was just garbage." But after a time, Marc began to see the light.

At the world championship of public speaking in Atlanta, Ga. in 1991, 2000 people were in the audience to listen to many contestants from all over the world. Marc was one of nine finalists.

Marc told the story of his relationship with his father, about how important it is to communicate and to tell your father things you've always wanted to tell. Marc noted he was devastated, placing only third at the contest.

After the speech, he realized there were about 100 men in the audience, all with "red eyes," who were thanking him for the things he had to say. One gentleman grabbed him and told him how much he wanted to thank him. The gentleman, said Marc, had not spoken to his father in 17 years.

"What a real tragedy that would have been, if I would have won the championship and never touched that man's life," said Marc.

After a time, Marc said, trophies simply end up being sold by great-grandchildren for a quarter as a paperweight at a garage sale.

"Nobody cares what we win," he said. What matters is what we can do to make it through life, he said, in one piece, and to share that wisdom with others. He learned at the public speaking contest why everything happens for a reason.

"My father is more powerful in death than he ever was in life," said Marc. So he goes on telling his story of his father.

"Somebody else needs to hear this," he said.

Cumberland County Cooperative Extension Hosts Meeting

HUNTSDALE (Cumberland Co.) — The Cumberland County Cooperative Extension Association held its annual meeting recently here at the Penn Township Firehall.

Richard Ocker, president, expressed the appreciation of the board to the retiring directors, including Gretchen Naugle, Carlos Suarez, and Larry Yorlets, Carlisle; Roy Snoke, Newville; James Paulus, Mechanicsburg; and Galen Karper, Shippensburg.

Ocker welcomed the newly elected directors, including Kent Strock, Mechanicsburg; Gayle Fry and Debra Yorlets, Carlisle; and Brandon Weary, Richard Mains, Jr., and Fred McGillvray, Newville.

Extension highlights included a skit by Rebecca Cornman, 1998 dairy princess, who presented her award-winning state dairy princess entry. Matthew Creek reported on his trip to South Carolina to participate in the 4-H National Wildlife Contest.

Rebecca Cornman reported on the National 4-H Dairy Conference held last fall at Madison, Wis. Extension reports were given by Laura Watts, "Equine Mini Series"; Thomas McCarty, "Sprayer Rinse System"; Duane Duncan, "Cow Visits School."

Millard Ilgenfritz, board member and Mandy Lehman, extension agent, reviewed the various Master Gardener programs. Mandy Lehman and Dennis Derr, Master Gardener chair, also recognized the Master Gardeners that have completed the course work and have provided 50 hours of volunteer service. The following were present and recognized: Janet Rakes and Robert Heidecker, Boiling Springs; Sharon Devenney, Kathy Slentz, and Thora Schroeder, Carlisle; Cheryl Martin, Lewisberry; Sharon Hauschildt, Susan Lott, Linda Kirt and Larry Lenig, Mechanicsburg; and Paul Garrett, Camp Hill.

Thomas McCarty, area water quality agent, was recognized for 10 years of service. Laura Watts, past PACAA president, presented Thomas McCarty with a model Nittany Lion as an award for being selected as a NACAA Achievement Award winner, one of two agents in Pennsylvania.

Mary Kelso, Newville, was presented the 1998 AA Raudabaugh Memorial Award. She was recognized for her lifelong leadership and service to Cumberland County. Kelso worked with extension several years starting in 1944 and taught home economics in the Cumberland Valley and Carlisle school systems. Before retiring she was the home economics department head at Carlisle.

During the business meeting, Richard Ocker, Carlisle, was re-elected president, Samuel Simmons III, Mechanicsburg, was re-elected vice president, and Cheryl Barrick was re-elected secretary.

The Cumberland County Cooperative Extension Association recently recognized Mary Kelso with the Outstanding Leadership and Service Award. The 1998 AA Raudabaugh Memorial Award was presented to Mary, recognizing her many years as a resource to the county, first as an extension agent and later as home economics teacher. President Richard Ocker is shown presenting the award to Mary. Shown with Mary and Richard is Mary's husband, Roy Kelso.

Hershey, with the help of his wife Shirley and children, Marc, 19, Erica, 18, and Alicia, 16, manages a 3,400-head hog wean-to-finish unit under contract with Hershey Ag (the Hersheys have no family relationship to the feed company). The hog facility was built in 1995. The family also raises 120,000 broilers under contract with Farmer's Pride. The chicken house was constructed in 1986.

(Hershey noted that another child, Tara, 2, was killed on the farm years ago as a result of pesticide poisoning. "It was a very traumatic time in our lives," he said.)

For the hog contract, Hershey finishes hogs from 11 pounds to 250-260-pound finishing weight in two cycles six months apart.

The farm encompasses two separate facilities with 250 tillable acres. Hershey plants 150 acres in corn in the spring and 60 acres in wheat in the fall. The wheat is harvested in the summer and another 65 acres of soybeans are planted into that, in addition to the regular season soybeans.

Hershey's rotation is two years corn, then soybeans, wheat, and back to corn again. With that rotation, Hershey said he hasn't seen an insect problem in the corn. "Corn is where the biggest problem with insect pressure often is," he said, including western corn rootworm and corn borer.

About 50 percent of the corn acreage is planted to Bt corn, with seven different varieties, all Pioneer hybrids.

Hershey manages conventional tilled soybeans on a Duffield sandy loam. He soil tests every fall through a commercial certified crop adviser. Lime is applied every couple of years to keep the pH optimum.

About 5,000 gallons of swine slurry is field-applied and either disced or chisel-plowed into the soil following application in the fall. Hershey noted that none of the broiler manure is used on the farm, "because we just don't need it," he said. That manure is marketed off the farm.

In the spring, in the first or second week of May when the soil has warmed and dried up enough, he uses a disc and cultipacker to prepare the seedbed.

Last year's soybean crop was planted May 22 with a drill and a dry inoculant was applied. The soybeans, with no preplant fertilizer, were drilled into seven-inch rows.

In early June, the STS soybeans were sprayed with a herbicide. No insect controls were used.

The full-season beans were harvested Oct. 15 last year using the farm's own combine.

This spring, Hershey plans to double-crop 65 acres of short-season soybeans after wheat.

"Last year we averaged pretty good yields," said Hershey.

Lancaster crops extension agent Bob Anderson did a yield check, registering 80-90 bushels of beans, which was excellent for the area.

"A lot of farms in this area had good bean yields, as high as 72 locally," said Hershey. Even neighboring Berks County had a second-place winner with a yield of 77.43 bushels per acre using Gutwein 7410. That honor went to Jon E. Stutzman.

Third place went to Jack Coleman, Lancaster County, with a yield of 76.10 bushels per acre using Pioneer 93B81.

"For soybeans, it's much harder to establish yields just by eyeballing them, compared to corn," Hershey said.

The producer said that a combination of factors, including standability of soybeans, plant populations, weed pressures, and other factors went into his decision to select the appropriate field for the contest.

For corn, it may be a little easier to spot potential yield challenges, because it can yellow. But soybeans retain their color, though a large, well-established plant canopy is a good sign of potential high yields.

Also, preparing a good seedbed and selecting the right hybrid for soil conditions are key.

Feed for the hogs and chickens is supplied entirely by the contractor. The soybeans and corn grown on the farm are forward-contracted by Hershey. Before they are sold, Hershey has storage bins on the farm.

Last year, the best price Hershey received for soybeans was $5.80 per bushel. Corn didn't sell well, at about $2.75 per bushel.

Along with a first-place plaque, Hershey received a free trip to the 1999 Commodity Classic at the end of February in Albuquerque, N.M. There, Hershey learned about the importance of marketing.

For years, Hershey said farmers learned all about how to produce high soybean yields and how to manage well. But learning how to market the product was a "shortfall," he said. Many farmers simply sat back "and hoped the price would go up," he said.

Producers need to learn how to be "more aggressive," he said, in selling their corn and soybeans.

In the Midwest, ethanol plants are springing up, offering a new outlet for growers and a 25-30 cent bushel premium for corn.

While many Pennsylvania growers use the crops they grow for livestock, some can learn to benefit from these new markets.

One of the lessons he learned at the Commodity Classic was how to look more closely at break-even costs for corn production.

Many farmers, he noted, do not know how to determine a break-even price — the prices they ask for don't accurately reflect costs, including their own time in growing the crop. For some, a price of $2.60 per bushel for corn can be good if their break-even costs are $2 per bushel.

Hershey has been a member of the soybean association for three years and is a member of the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association and the National Corn Growers Association.

This was the first time he entered the soybean grower contest, sponsored by the promotion board.

Hershey looks at the contest as a personal challenge. He said he enjoys all aspects of the farm, from managing livestock to growing crops. Entering a contest is a learning experience, he noted, because he can see what other growers did to have good yields. Hershey also noted that growers can learn from his experiences in growing soybeans.

The Hersheys moved to a farm once owned by Shirley's parents, Raymond and Ruth Miller. Jim and Shirley started farming in 1977, noted Jim, and moved to the farm in 1978.

The Hershey children are also involved in some aspects of the farm. Marc, 19, attends college in Elizabethtown, majoring in business administration. Erica, 18, is a senior and Alicia, 16, is a sophomore, both at Elizabethtown High School.

Marc enjoys the fieldwork more than the work with livestock. Erica and Alicia have their share of chores, but also enjoy high school soccer and sports.

Hershey encourages others to participate in the soybean yield contest. "The contest teaches us to be better farmers, and many can learn to improve their operation," he said. Only about a dozen states have their own versions of the contest.

A member of the Pennsylvania Soybean Growers Association, Hershey attributes the award-winning yield to what turned out to be a good growing season after all. "We had good growing conditions after it finally stopped raining last spring," Hershey said. "I give the Lord credit for that."

CRI Delegates Approve Merger Proposals

SHAWANO, Wis. — Two mergers announced this week involving Cooperative Resources International would increase the size of CRI to almost 62,000 dairy and livestock producers nationally.

According to a news release made this week, delegates of subsidaries of CRI "overwhelmingly approved two merger proposals."

The mergers took effect April 1, according to CRI.

One merger combined three existing artificial insemination subsidaries of CRI into one group, to be called, "Genex Cooperative."

The three artificial insemination groups to be merged are: Genex, headquartered in Ithaca, N.Y. (formed in recent years by the merger of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, a New York breeders cooperative and a Louisiana breeders co-op); Noba, headquartered in Tiffin, Ohio; and 21st Century Genetics, based in Shawano, Wis.

The other merger brought Central Livestock Association, based out of South Saint paul, Minnesota, into CRI as a subsidary.

According to CRI, 89 percent of CRI delegates who attended annual meetings and voted favor of the merger of the artificial insemination groups, while 81 percent voted to make CLA a subsidary of CRI.

The news release also stated that 83 percent of CLA delegates voted for the merger.

"You board of directors and management believe the consolidation will strengthen the rapidity and quality of our decision making, will add efficiency to the operation ..." and reduce duplications of effort and management and administration costs, stated CRI CEO Tom Lyon.

He said the benefits of merger the livestock association into CRI creates a bond between beef and dairy producers that holds promise of "higher yielding, more consumer-desired products. It provide opportunity for genetic inputs, feeder marketing and placement, access to management records, financing, slaughter marketing assistance and the recording of data for selection of the next generation."

The merger is seen as a way to advance the mission and strategic plan of CRI, according to a statement by Roger Borgwardt, chairman of the CRI board of directors.

CLA is to bring 18,000 members into CRI to increase CRI membership to 62,000. Donald Kampmeier, CLA's general manager and its president, stated that the merger is best for the livestock organization.

"Joining CRI means greater financial strength for the cooperative through increased sales volumes," Kampmeier said. "It also means several new services are available, including genetics, record keeping, newsletter, field services, calf and dairy expertise, increased livestock feeding programs and loan packages, and a strengthened position in the industry."

The boards of directors of the three artificial insemination groups anticipated the merger approval and had already named Doug Wilson to serve as chief operating officer (COO) of Genex Cooperative.

According to the news release, Wilson has worked in the artificial insemination industry for 28 years, the past six serving as COO of Noba and also 21st Century Genetics.

In his remarks presented at the annual meetings of CRI subsidaries, Wilson stated, "We should not understate how effective this cooperative has been in achieving its goal. The balance sheet is strong, calculated increases in product development are in place, and we have an unequaled field staff.

"As we look at the beef and dairy industries, it would be difficult to visualize any less change for the next decade," he said, adding that the reason for making such decisions is to further the goal of controlling change, rather than letting change control members.

Bruce Bean, COO of Genex/CRI retired April 1, after 30 years working in the artificial insemination industry.

Five members of the CRI board of directors represent Genex, and include David Hilemen of Tyrone, Pennsylvania; John Ruedinger of Van Dyne, Wisconsin; Bud Butcher of Senioa, Georgia; David Watkins of Moscow, Iowa; Joseph Greenbacker of Durham, Connecticut; and Alfred Wanner Jr. of Narvon, Pennsylvania.

Two board members representing AgSource are Roger Borgwardt of Valders, Wisconsin, and Eugene Stauffacher of Mineral Point, Wisconsin.

Representing Central Livestock Association are Ken Hove of Fosston, Minnesota, and Richard Creaser of Menomonie, Wisconsin.

Pork Processor Wants Your Hogs

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

PAXINOS (Northumberland Co.) — Despite industry's insistence there's a nationwide "overcapacity" of hogs, one processor proves that hogs are still being purchased — and according to AVA Pork Products, Inc., with a plant situated here, consumer demand remains high.

According to Millie Girgenti, general manager of AVA Pork Products, Inc., success is based on how much fresh meat they can kill, cut, and ship. "Pork cut up today will be on store shelves by tomorrow morning," she said during a recent interview at the Paxinos plant.

"We can immediately respond to requests for our pork products," noted Becky Kingsbury, director of sales and marketing for AVA Pork.

Producers are glad they're here. In February, Marlin Becker, head of hog procurement, and Becky Kingsbury attended the Pork Expo at the Lebanon Fairgrounds. There, Kingsbury said, "Most who came to the booth told us they were glad to see another processor," she said. The enthusiastic response they received provided additional incentive to expand.

For about five years, AVA Pork has operated a slaughter plant in Hazleton. Originally from Brooklyn, N.Y., where AVA Pork maintains an office, a plant was opened up in a facility once owned by Clark's Feed Mill, Shamokin. The former Clark's plant once processed some hog products. But AVA Pork is in the midst of a large expansion to accommodate up to about 1,200 hogs a day this spring.

In mid-September last year, AVA Pork began processing hogs out of the plant in Paxinos. The plant produces "primals" or fresh meat cuts for a variety of supermarket chains, independent retailers, and further processors.

The plant measures 225,000 square feet and employs 85-100 full time. Chris Keer is facility engineer. Process manager is Charles Gossett. Dan Ahlers is employee manager.

"We have the prime movers for pork on the East Coast here, a large customer base," said Kingsbury. "We have a place for the products to go."

Kingsbury noted AVA Pork has a long-term commitment to the community and producers in the wide region from which they purchase pork. Demand from regions in New York — where they sell a huge percentage of the pork — remains high.

"Our salespeople care and respond to requests," said Kingsbury. "We provide a quick response time."

General Manager Millie Girgenti noted that the Clark's Mill building was built about 25 years ago. "It was too small for what we wanted to do," she said. So AVA Pork decided to expand the building.

Employees gather outside the AVA Pork Products, Inc. plant in Paxinos. Process manager is Charles Gossett, far left.

AVA Pork owns 38 acres of land — none of it is leased. In November, Millie's house was built a few hundred yards south of the plant.

"We're going to be here," said Kingsbury, who noted that, eventually, up to 2,000 hogs a day could be processed at the plant.

Despite concerns that because of recent moves by individuals in the state's pork producer's association to cut back supply of hogs to regain a more reasonable market balance, processors are still interested in finding a home for pork in Pennsylvania.

"We're committed to stay," Kingsbury said.

Girgenti said development of additional markets and renovations to accommodate those markets will be taken "one step at a time." Right now they are processing about 800-1,000 hogs a day, trying to meet increasing demand for fresh pork.

Marlin Becker, Manheim, head of hog procurement for AVA Pork Products in Paxinos, located near Shamokin, has been involved for about 25 years in the hog business, he said. Becker travels to New Holland Sales Stables on Monday

Bureau Announces New Agricultural Youth Scholarships

GLENMONT, N.Y. — Say the word "scholarship" and you're sure to gain the attention of high school students. That's why New York Farm Bureau's State Promotion and Education Committee has renamed what was once called the Youth Citizenship Award Program.

The Agricultural Youth Scholarship, as it is now called, is an opportunity for high school juniors who live or work on a farm or who are involved in agriculture in some way to compete for scholarships of $500, $250, and $100.

To apply for these scholarships, high school juniors must fill out an application and write an essay on "How Agriculture Affects My Life."

"The application and essay are judged on content, plus oral presentation of the essay and an interview," said Judi Whittaker of Whitney Point, chair of the state promotion and education committee. "The winners from each of the districts then attend the state annual meeting, where three statewide winners are chosen and awarded a $500, $250, and "100 scholarship."

Whittaker said this year a candidate may be nominated or those interested can simply request an application packet. Open nominations and applications are available from New York Farm Bureau by calling (800) 342-4143.

The deadline for completed applications is June 15, 1999. Judging will be completed by Sept. 20, 1999, with district winners attending and competing at the state annual meeting in Albany, Dec. 6-9, 1999.

Meat Goat Conference April 17

McHENRY, Md. — The ATC program at Garrett Community College (GCC) and the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service are sponsoring the Second Annual Meat Goat Conference April 17 at the auditorium at GCC.

The conference will begin registration at 8:30 a.m. and end at 3:30 p.m. A lunch break will be taken at 12:30 p.m., at which time participants will enjoy a catered goat meat and ostrich meat buffet luncheon.

Terry Gipson, associate professor and researcher at Langston University, will be the featured speaker. Terry, considered an expert in his field, will be discussing the regional trends and demand for goat meat and the implications of those trends.

Willie Lantz, ag instructor at GCC, will present two topics. He will present a realistic meat goat enterprise budget designed for this region. He will also be discussing forages through the use of forage samples and analyses.

Larry Poss, USDA marketing specialist/inspector and meat goat judge, will discuss how to determine exactly what the markets are looking for. Larry deals with livestock sales and auctions and has been asked to explain how these places separate and grade meat goats.

Cost is $15 per person. To register or for more information, contact Patsy McKenzie, (301) 387-3122.

USDA Official To Speak On Research, Extension

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Dr. I. Miley Gonzalez, undersecretary for research, education and economics in the USDA will speak on "Promoting Excellence in Agricultural Research and Education," April 7 at 11 a.m. at the Nittany Lion Inn on Penn State's University Park campus.

Gonzalez was nominated by President Clinton as the undersecretary in July 1997 and was sworn in Aug. 5. He oversees the Agricultural Research Service; the Cooperative State Research, Education and Extension Service; the Economic Research Service; and the National Agricultural Statistics Service.

Before joining USDA, Gonzalez served as associate dean and director of academic programs in New Mexico State University's College of Agriculture and Home Economics. He earned his doctorate in agricultural and extension education from Penn State in 1982. Gonzalez began his professional career as a high school vocational agriculture teacher on the Colorado River Indian Reservation in Parker, Ariz.

Gonzalez's talk will be part of the Evans Family Lecture, a one-day series of presentations by graduate students and graduates of Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. The series provides cash awards for graduate research in agriculture, international agriculture, extension education, and agricultural education. Graduate student talks are scheduled from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m. Award recipients will be announced at a luncheon in the Assembly Room at noon.

The lecture series is sponsored by Penn State's department of agricultural and extension education and the Evans Family Endowment.

The lectures are free and open to the public. For more information, contact Dr. Blannie Bowen, head, Department of Agricultural and Extension Education, (814) 865-1688, or Dr. Dan Lago, extension specialist, (814) 863-7871.

Revolutionary "2-in-1" TRIMMER/MOWER™

SO MUCH EASIER to use than hand-held trimmers OR small-wheels mowers! TRIMS plus MOWS everything from whole lawns (even wet, without clogging!) to tough, waist-high grass and weeds with incredible ease! Rocks, roots, stumps, etc., do it no harm because it has no steel blade to bend, break, or dull. Perfect for use with riding mowers for finish-up trimming and mowing... and for ALL trimming and mowing around vacation homes, hunting camps, etc.

Your machine is all you say it is. 75% quicker than a hand-held trimmer because of the extra power and heavier cord that enables me to wade right thru heavy grass and weeds. There is NO heavy load to swing back and forth tiring your arms and shoulders. It makes weed wacking duck soup!
— Tom Lawrence, Somerville, New Jersey

So, WHY HASSLE with hand-held trimmers or small wheels mowers? Please mail coupon below TODAY for FREE DETAILS about the Revolutionary DR® TRIMMER/MOWER™!

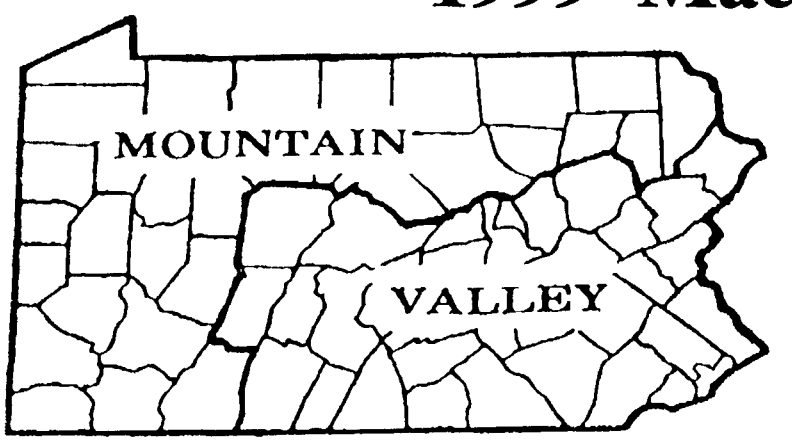
1999 Machinery Custom Rates



Liana C. Cuffman
Agricultural Statistician
Pa. Ag Statistics Service

The custom rates shown are averages from voluntary reports by custom operators and farmers throughout Pennsylvania. Most of the rates are stated per acre, cwt., ton, bale, or bushel rather than per hour to reduce the variation due to machinery size. Individual rates vary due to differences in working conditions, services performed, or even the operator's eagerness to do custom work. Therefore, the average rates shown should not be considered absolute indications of fair charges.

Acreage rates are shown separately for two regions of the state, labeled "Mountain" and "Valley." The differences in rates between regions reflect differences in terrain, soils, and alternative opportunities for the labor and equipment used. Figures labeled "State" represent the straight average of all reports used regardless of geographic location.

Of the 72 rates reported with year-to-year comparisons, 30 increased, 35 decreased, and seven are the same as last year. The overall average is down one percent from the previous year. This percentage decrease was completed by adding the rates for all jobs, regardless of basis of charge, and dividing by last year's comparable total.

Produce Auctions Open

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Produce auctions are moving full speed ahead, with one auction beginning the earliest it has in its history.

Leola Produce Auction, Leola, began March 23, the earliest in its history, with flowers.

Weaverland Produce, New Holland, began March 25 with bedding, flower, and nursery stock.

Other area auctions have already begun selling produce or have scheduled their auctions to open soon.

As of presstime, following are the starting dates and times for the various auctions:

• Buffalo Valley Produce Auction, Mifflinburg. Auction begins April 27 at 10 a.m., conducted Tuesdays and Thursdays.

• Kirkwood Ag Auction Produce, Kirkwood. Auction begins Wednesday, April 21, at 10 a.m., and will operate every Wednesday from April and May into June. On June 8, the auction operates Tuesday and Thursdays, 10 a.m.

• Lebanon Produce Auction, Reistville. Auction begins Tuesday, April 20, at 10 a.m.

• Leinbach's Shippensburg Produce Auction, Shippensburg. Auction began April 1 at 10 a.m. The auction continues Tuesdays and Thursdays, but was conducted all winter long with southern produce, citrus, potatoes, and apples.

• Leola Produce Auction, Leola. Auctions are under way Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10 a.m.

• Snyder County Produce Auction, Port Trevorton. The auction has been under way all winter on Fridays. But the auction adds Monday beginning April 19, 10:30 a.m. and operates on Fridays the same time.

• Weaverland Produce Auction, New Holland. The auction, already under way, continues Tuesdays and Thursdays 9 a.m., with bedding, flowers, and nursery stock.

The Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association is deeply saddened by the sudden death of a long-time member, Richard W. Hoopes, who passed away on March 23, 1999. Richard resided in Hamnburg, and was a member of the Kutztown chapter. He was both a state and national life member.

Prior to his death, Richard was serving as the PYFA education coordinator, 1999 summer conference chairperson, and entertainment committee chairperson for the 1999 NYFEA Institute.

He previously served as PYFA president (1977), public relations director, newsletter editor, operations coordinator for the 1981 NYFEA Institute committee, and served on the national level as a member of the NYFEA executive secretary committee and education committee.

Richard is survived by his wife Grace, two children, and five grandchildren.

2,300 Acre Delaware Soybean Grower Believes
The Synchrony™ STS™ System is the Most Profitable Approach to Growing Soybeans.

GARY SIMENDINGER
MIDDLETOWN, DE

"I have had a total of 2,000 acres of STS soybeans sprayed with a tank mix of Synchrony and a post grass herbicide for the last two years and it has all been with one trip with clean beans at harvest.

This year, the bottom line of why I have decided to go with 2,300 acres of Synchrony on both first crop and wheat beans is that this is the lowest cost way of growing a bushel of soybeans. When I look at the seed costs, proven yields and the herbicide costs, it is clear to me that the lowest cost way to grow a bushel of soybeans is with STS soybeans sprayed with Synchrony plus a postemergence grass herbicide like Select or Assure II.

With Synchrony on STS wheat beans, I like the added flexibility of the Synchrony treatment; I can wait until the weather is right to spray for the best results and I don't spray until it looks like the weather will allow me to have a crop to harvest. If drought conditions set in, I have not lost a lot of money on higher priced seed.

With $5.00 soybeans it is good to have $5.00/acre Synchrony for STS soybeans."

Pork Processor

to purchase hogs and buys hogs directly from farms.

AVA Pork Products business is the New York product selling arm that maintains a client list of food service companies, including Grand Union, Pathmark, Wakeford, C&S Wholesale, and Shop Rite. Negotiations are under way to secure other product outlets, including Giant of Carlisle.

Customers, according to sales and marketing director Becky Kingsbury, are from the Northeast and Mid-Atlantic regions, including New York, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Jersey, and other states. There are hundreds of customers that purchase pork for further processing.

"This area provides some great hogs for us," she said.

Farmers have been unloading hogs at the processing plant. In most cases, producers are written a check the next day.

Procurement director Marlin Becker said AVA Pork is looking for hogs weighing between 230-260 pounds with any type of genetics. In a few months, the plant will have a Fat-O-Meter installed and will pay premiums for leanness.

"We're in the market for fresh pork with a leaner loin," said Becker. Right now AVA Pork is purchasing products through sale barns. Becker deals with about 25-30 farmers full time.

Holding back expansion is the addition of pens. New refrigerators have to be installed, which takes time.

"We can sell more pork that what we're killing," said Girgenti. The only thing holding the company back is installing the new pen and refrigerator space.

Girgenti hopes to have the additional space completed early this year. The refrigerators will be installed by May 1 and the pens "will be right behind that," she said. AVA Pork Products hopes to be processing 1,200 hogs a day in May.

While the AVA Pork plant near Shamokin deals with primal cuts, the Brooklyn plant deals with some further processing. The Brooklyn plant processes a seasoned pork roast and two marinated products, a teriyaki loin and Italian loin.

According to Girgenti, general manager, the family has been involved for many years in supply fresh meats and aged beef to restaurants in the New York area. They sell to Smith and Wollonsky, Gallaghers, Post House, and 222, according to Kingsbury.

The plant is seeking quality employees from around the region. For information, contact Dan Ahlers at AVA Pork Products, (717) 644-6630. Hog producers can call Marlin Becker at (717) 665-7283.

AVA Pork owns 38 acres of land — none of it is leased. In November, Millie's house was built a few hundred yards south of the plant. General Manager Millie Girgenti, on the house porch, noted the company is committed to pork production in Pennsylvania. Photo by Andy Andrews

Pa. State Grange Members Take Message To Washington

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) – Nearly 100 Pennsylvania State Grangers visited with their federal legislators during its annual Washington Legislative Tour to discuss issues concerning agriculture and rural affairs.

Among the issues to be discussed during the annual visit with U.S. congressmen and senators are diary compacts, stability of farm prices for agricultural products, rural education's role in education reform and improving the rural health care system, among others.

The Pennsylvania State Grange, with over 30,000 members in 450 Grange chapters across the commonwealth, is dedicated to improving the lives of rural Pennsylvanians through legislative action, grass-roots initiatives, community service and offering member services like financial planning, a credit union and insurance programs.

Brenda Shambaugh, Pa State Grange legislative director, said that Washington tour presents an opportunity for individual Grange members to voice their position on issues being considered by federal legislators.

"The visit to Washington is also to speak out on behalf of the National Grange's Blueprint for Rural America," Shambaugh said. "The 10-point plan is designed to revitalize and enhance rural America in preparation for the new millennium. The blueprint is part of the National Grange's program called, 'A New Century, A New Grange.'"

The Grange believes Congress should authorize the formation of regional dairy compacts to provide a more stable pricing structure for producers and consumers. Reducing the number of milk marketing orders will lead to a more streamlined system of pricing, marketing and distribution of dairy products, as well as better regional accountability.

"Like New England's successful Northeast Dairy Compact, other dairy-producing regions can benefit from the establishment of similar compacts to promote cooperative pricing and marketing systems," Shambaugh said. "The Northeast Diary Compact, which the Pennsylvania State Grange diligently helped to get created, is a proven success for our neighbors to the north, and we seek the same for Pennsylvania producers."

Members asked their elected officials to vote for reauthorization of the compact, which is set to expire on Oct. 1, 1999.

Shambaugh said the National Grange feels Congress should reform the federal tax system to assure preservation of family farms and businesses through the elimination of estate and capital gains taxes, and institute user taxes to offset costs of federal programs.

National grange officials presented statistics that show that it takes $3 in costs to collect $1 of estate tax following an individual's death.

"A new system is needed to assure that all wealth bears its just and equal payment to the government," Shambaugh said." A family farm is a family business and plays a key role in the economic well-being of rural areas across America. The Grange also seeks immediate 100 percent deductibility for health insurance premiums paid by farmers and other self-employed individuals."

Another blueprint issue of the National Grange concerns the stability of farm prices for agricultural products The Grange seeks stability in all farm prices so that we no longer experience the prices collapses we have seen recently in the hog and feed grain commodities. Another blueprint issue is the revitalization of rural schools through federal partnerships

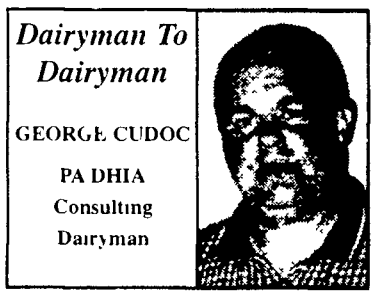
QUESTION: Last week the question asked how to use the Pa.DHIA Nitrogen Management Analysis Report. We will now look at step two of the answer.



ANSWER: We recently talked about the herd average MUN and what it can tell us about the diet of our cows. The last article showed that the average MUN is a good place to begin, but certainly not the place to end looking at MUN data.

The first piece of information that we shold use on the report is found directly to the left of the average MUN. We should examine the range as portrayed by the high and low cow in the herd.

In Pennsylvania herds, there are numerous ways that dairy people feed their cows.

Range expectations within all types of feeding practices should vary by no more than plus or minus 6 from the average MUN of the herd.

This range indicates that the feeding practices on each farm are such that we come close to attaining the goal of feeding every cow in the herd correctly.

Ranges that are greater than these tell us that some of many of the cows in the herd are eating a diet that is not balanced.

It is a fact that there is a large movement in the Pennsylvania dairy industry to go to total mixed ration feeding. Furthermore, a great number of these herds are employing single diet TMRs to the whole herd.

This change in the way we feed cows is bringing about changes in what we expect from the MUN range. Yesterday's feeding practices, of feeding individual components to cows, led to the expected plus or minus 6 variance in MUN range.

This was due to individual selection by some cows of various feed components.

TMR feeding of cows allows more control over what she is allowed to eat. Imposing these controls should lead us to expect even tighter MUN ranges as time goes on.

The range of MUN suggests the success of failure of our diet management and the control we have on the nutrient intake of our cows.

TMR or cafeteria feeding should drive the MUN range only to the acceptable plus or minus 6.

There are feed management considerations that we need to evaluate when the MUN range is greater than this.

Feed availability, as experienced by all the cows, becomes suspect when improper MUN ranges appear. Appropriate bunk space and using all the available bunk is important.

One common mistake that producers make is to ignore feed bunk dynamics.

"Bare bunk dissease," as I refer to it, is quite common on many farms. Running out of available feed in all or part of the bunk is a sure way of telling your cows that they should stop milking.

The second feed management consideration that we should evaluate when the MUN range is greater than normal is feed separation.

"TMR" is probably the most overstated term on the farm.

Many times, we see cases of poor performance due to separation of the TMR. This will cause all the cows in the herd to be fed an incorrect diet.

Use the MUN report to allow the cows to tell you if they are consuming a total mixed ration or some other combination of feeds that are anything but total or mixed.

Just because you purchased a TMR mixer at some time, does not mean your cows are presented with a TMR.

Also, the TMR placed before the cow must be what she takes in and swallows.

I could write about many more feed considerations and how they are measured by using the MUN report.

It is my goal to urge you to use your MUN information to evaluate all diet practices. Your cows are evaluating the things you do every day by producing data through the help of our team at Pa.DHIA.

Get the most our of your records by learning how to use them.

Remember, a free farm visit for Pa.DHIA MUN users can be as easy as placing a telephone call to 1-800-DHI-TEST, or 1-724-625-8971.

Adams County Recognizes Conservation Winners

JINNY WILT
Adams Co. Correspondent

YORK SPRINGS (Adams Co.) — The Adams County Conservation District honored a well-known Adams County farmer for her conservation work last year at its annual awards banquet March 25 in the York Springs Fire Hall.

Jane Alexander, owner of Green Vista Farm on Mountain Road near York Springs, was named Conservataion Farmer of the Year. She received her award from Mildred Musselman, recently named the district's environmental technician.

One conservation project on Alexander's farm involved 21 students from Bermudian Springs School District who planted a riparian buffer along a 1,200-foot eroded streambank.

The students planted 800 trees along the unnamed stream that meanders through one of Alexander's pastures. The tree planting area measures 20 feet from the streambank edge on both sides of the stream. An additional 100 feet is in pasture for a total buffer width of 120 feet. The buffer area totals 6.6 acres.

Alexander has also installed 9,774 feet of tile work, stone-lined a waterway for 160 feet, built one water control structure and one waste storage area.

Realizing is is important to keep livestock out of the creek, she also constructed fencing.

Others receiving awards were Patrick Keller, outstanding cooperator; Lagging Stream Farm, Bill McCleaf Conservation Leadership Award; Getty Acres owned by Larry Wilkinson, Ed Wilkinson and Dan Wilkinson, Chesapeake Bay Clean Water Farm Award; and Brian Sneeringer, Outstanding Contribution for Streambank Stabilization.

Chesapeake Bay farmers completing contracts were E. Elmer Smith, Rodney Sebright, Mike Riser, and Harry Fletcher.

Melvin Worley was presented the Director Emeritus Award.

Fortunately, it will never get a chance to earn its wings.

Scientists call it metamorphosis. Corn farmers call it trouble. Before they grow into moths, cutworms can devastate a corn stand. Stop them with a preemergent application of Pounce® 3.2 EC insecticide from FMC. Nothing controls cutworms better. And it has a new, lower price, so nothing costs less or is more effective. Bison Show Premier Event In Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Buffalo fever was in the air and the crowd eager with anticipation as this year's premier bison event in the east, The Eastern Bison Association's Annual Show and Sale, was under way. The event greatly surpassed the outstanding results of last year's sale with remarkable animals strutting their distinguished qualities into the show ring at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex March 13.

Bidders were poised and ready when these outstanding animals entered the ring. Judged by world renowned judges from Colorado and South Dakota, the grand champion male, a yearling bull owned by Cynthia and Russell Webb of Rus-Bar Farm, Vinton, Va., and the grand champion female, a 2-year-old bred heifer owned by Cabin Creek Farms, Rocky Mount, N.C., rounded out the top entries.

A third-place yearling bull from Buffalo Trace Bison, Mays Lick, Ky. brought $14,750. Comments from judges and spectators alike suggested that many of these animals were some of the finest bison from across North America.

Bison breeders from all over the United States and Canada were in the bidding. This event is one of the best opportunities for new and existing producers to compare, select, and purchase some of the finest bison raised.

This year's event recorded a significant increase over last year's show and sale, indicative of the phenomenal growth of the bison industry.

The Eastern Bison Association is dedicated to addressing the needs of the Eastern bison producer through marketing of bison and bison products, and promoting educational opportunities and research involving bison. The association represents members from more than 22 states and provinces in the United States and Canada.

For more information on bison, or to apply for membership, contact the Eastern Bison Association at (718) 984-0042, email at tpbison@aol.com, or write at 32 Hemlock Court, Staten Island, N.Y. 10309-1664.

Farm Labor Management Resources Available

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Cargill Animal Nutrition has developed a Labor Management Manual as an aid in meeting the challenges of hiring, training, and keeping high-quality farm employees.

"Our company sees farm labor issues as a main source of success or failure in today's expanding dairy operations," according to Rod Isham, Cargill regional manager. "The Labor Management manual we have developed is designed to be a practical resource to guide dairy owners/managers through the complex issues of attracting, hiring, and keeping good quality employees."

Many of today's larger dairy business units only evolved from a small family farm with family labor in the past few years. Although many resources have been developed to address barn design, manure handling, nutrition, and nutrient management, it is difficult to find concise and complete information on becoming an effective manager of people. Not only must an owner find and train good employees, consideration of the legal issues to employee management must be a part of the program.

The Cargill Labor Management Manual has been developed as a service to area dairy operators. Any owner/manager interested in more information is welcome to inquire with their local Cargill Animal Nutrition dairy management consultant

minimum prices for milk used in nearly all dairy products, with a Class III price for cheese and a Class IV price for butter and dry milk products These new prices will be determined monthly and will be the same in all markets This change better reflects the value of milk components (protein, butterfat, nonfat solids) used in manufactured dairy products

- Setting monthly prices for drinking milk (Class I) by using either the Class III or IV price (whichever is higher) plus a differential that varies by location
- Adopting a national system of Class I prices that is based, in part, on market distribution costs
- Determining monthly prices for milk used for soft products (Class II), such as yogurt and ice cream, by adding 70 cents to the Class IV price
- Standardizing and consolidating certain details in the orders to provide consistent definitions of key terms and reporting requirements

The newly consolidated orders must be approved by either two-thirds of producers in a marketing area or by producers who supply two-thirds of the milk in a marketing area USDA will conduct producer referendums later this year If approved by referendum, the changes will take effect on Oct 1, 1999

The Secretary's final decision will appear in the Federal Register on April 2, 1999 The decision and additional background information can be accessed on the web at www.ams.usda.gov/dairy/reform

The New And Improved Penn State Swine Research Center

PENNSTATE
College of Agricultural Sciences

From the Department of Dairy and Animal Science

This regular column from Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science features the research findings, student opportunities, and reports on other important topics generated in the Department. The back issues of the column are archived on Lancaster Farming's Internet www.lancasterfarming.com home page. Look for them.

Keith A. Bryan
Instructor in Animal Science

The Department of Dairy and Animal Science at Penn State has a new and improved swine research center, which will allow it to increase the size of its herd and expand its undergraduate education, research, and extension outreach programs

In January 1998, work was completed on a new farrowing and nursery facility, and the existing buildings were remodeled for more efficient handling of both pigs and manure These changes are the first significant modifications since the modified open-front finishing building was completed in 1981, and the main barn was placed in operation in 1959 The improvements will allow Penn State's sow herd to grow to about 110 sows, primarily purebred Yorkshires

The new facility consists of two rooms containing 12 farrowing crates each and two corresponding nursery rooms which each hold up to 120 pigs The farrowing rooms feature flip-rail farrowing crates, smooth, cast iron flooring under the sows for comfort and durability, and plastic flooring under the baby pigs for warmth The same plastic flooring is used in the nursery rooms where pigs are weaned and moved at four weeks of age Both farrowing and nursery rooms are carefully cleaned and disinfected between groups of pigs using high pressure hot water lines installed in each room

Dave Hosterman swine herdsman, has noticed significant improvements in performance due to the new facilities "We have been able to raise more pigs per litter with heavier 21-day litter weights in the new facility, due to a more controlled and comfortable environment Because of convenience, we can feed the sows more often which helps to boost milk production, and improves 21-day weights This has been apparent as a gilt raised 14 pigs with a litter weight of 158 lbs at 21 days It's nice to teach the students to farrow sows and care for the litters in a comfortable, controlled environment"

Each of the existing wings of the main barn have new front gate panels and they have been remodeled to accommodate liquid manure Unlike the old system which required wood shavings as bedding and twice-daily shoveling, all manure now drains by gravity into a Y gutter under the center aisle and flows to the underground storage tank when the plug is pulled Likewise, liquid manure from the existing modified open-front building also flows into the underground tank Manure from the holding tank is pumped into trucks in a new drive-through building, prior to being applied to the fields "The liquid manure system works well with our 'state-of-the-art' manure handling system We can empty our 40,000-gallon underground manure tank in two or three hours, and we have been able to save about $5,000 per year in bedding costs," reports Hosterman

In order to better protect the swine herd from diseases, some bio-security restrictions have been placed on visitors Guests to the new facility can observe pigs in the farrowing and nursery rooms through windows designed for that purpose Visitors will not have direct contact with any pigs, but the observation windows are designed for ample viewing by people of all ages

The swine center will play an important role in undergraduate education, research, and extension outreach programs In addition to traditional classes such as swine management, and livestock evaluation and selection, new ventilation concepts can be taught The state-of-the-art ventilation system provides a good opportunity for hands-on teaching

More frequent farrowing means that research emphasis can be expanded Most research activities will continue to focus on the already successful physiology programs, but new research efforts in a wide range of disciplines will soon be underway with the opportunities that the new facility provides "The new facility certainly has been an improvement to the operation and we look to the future for continued improvements," says Hosterman

Pasto Agricultural Museum

Darwin G. Braund, PH.D., Curator

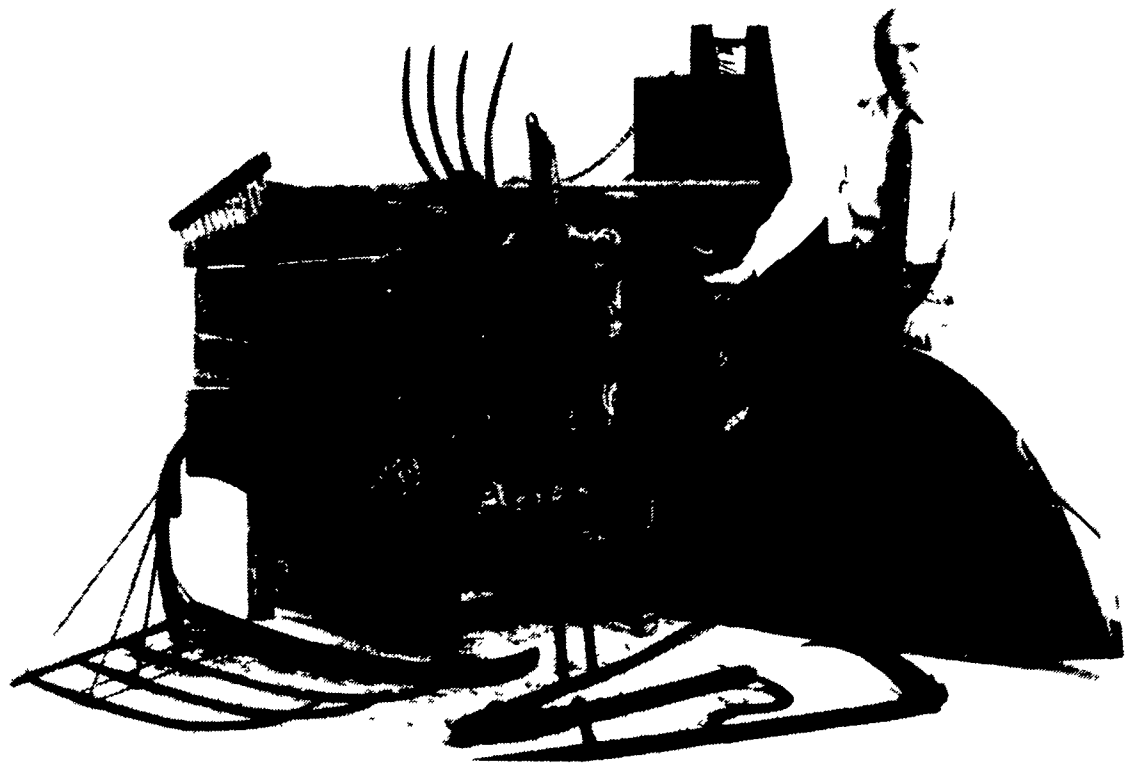
Visitors to the Pasto Agricultural Museum, located at Penn State's Rock Springs Agricultural Research Center, journey back to a time when farmers used muscle power, both human and animal, to produce food and fiber for a growing nation. This regular Lancaster Farming column features photos and historical comments about the extensive collection found there. For more information call the museum office at 814/863-1383.

In the 1880s a creative inventor devised a wooden treadmill equipped with a drive belt around an outer wheel that could operate a butter churn or a washing machine. Today, you can see a treadmill like this at the Pasto Agricultural Museum, alongside a larger horse powered treadmill, which could operate a threshing machine.

The museum has nearly 700 rare and unusual farm and household items dating back to the 1840s. The museum's collection began in 1975 with the donation of historic hand tools by the late Russell B. Dickerson. Jerome K Pasto directed the project for 20 years of volunteer service following his retirement as associate dean in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences

In 1980, the Agricultural Alumni Society and the University named the museum after Dr. Pasto.

Now in its third decade, Dr. Darwin G. Braund is the curator, and with his help Lancaster Farming will bring you regular columns that include photos and snippets of historical data that come directly from the source. This week we have the Chatham fanning mill of 1893.



The Chatham fanning mill of 1893 serves as a backdrop in this photo for harvesting and threshing implements of the centuries. Except for the late advent of the mill, the other tools changed very little over 3,000 years. Shown in the down position is the sickle, straight handled scythe, primitive flail and grain cradle. Leaning against the mill is a fork and a refined flail, and a rake is on the top. Jerry Pasto, retired museum curator, stands behind a winnowing tray used for separating chaff from the grain, with the aid of wind. The implements shown, date from the 1800's.--A Penn State Pasto Ag Museum photo.

60 Attend Expansion Workshop

HOLIDAYSBURG (Blair Co.) — On March 18th, 60 dairy producers, industry leaders and Penn State Extension staff attended an all-day workshop, "Is Expansion Right for ME?" at the Ramada Inn in Altoona.

The workshop was designed to help dairy farmers who want to expand their current dairy operation.

The workshop was a combined effort of Penn State Cooperative Extension, Genex, Monsanto, PennWest Farm Credit and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Other industry sponsors included the Bedford Farm Bureau, Lancaster Dairy Automation, McLanahan Corporation and Westfalia Dairy Systems.

The dairy industry is changing rapidly. The workshop stressed that proactive dairy farmers can take steps to improve their competitive position in a turbulent marketplace.

More than ever before, dairy producers are being challenged to be good managers who can plan an orderly and profitable expansion of their farm businesses

The Dairy Expansion workshop provided dairy farmers with the resources to help them make the right decision for their own future.

The workshop program was unique in pairing industry professionals, extension specialists and dairy farmers in each presentation. Penn State Extension Specialist Alan Bair kicked off the workshop with an overview of the current dairy business climate.

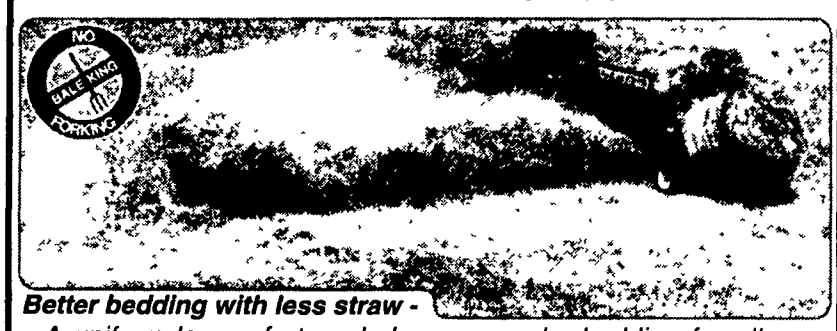
BALE KING

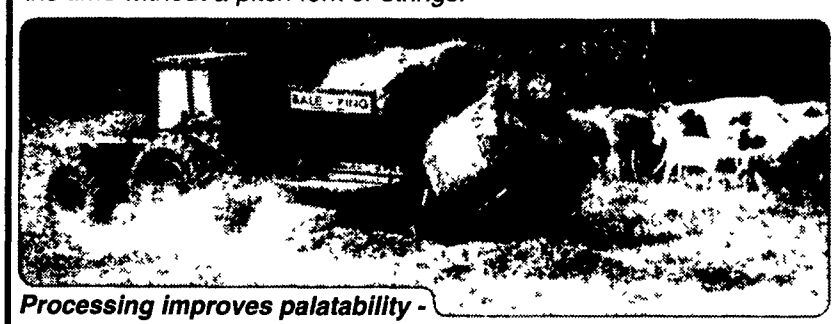
Give your entire herd all the advantages the dominant cows take!



Better bedding with less straw -

A uniform layer of straw helps ensure dry bedding for all your livestock, not just the boss cows. Your entire herd will be cleaner and more comfortable.

Bale King can also be used to spread straw inside poultry barns or blow straw into open front cattle shelters and calving huts as well as produce bedding for hogs. Fast, uniform spreading in a fraction of the time without a pitch fork or strings.



Processing improves palatability -

Reduces feed costs

Processing the bales makes it a lot easier for your livestock to feed. They will no longer have to pull and tear at a packed bale to get a bit of feed. They'll be able to feed faster and use less energy in feeding. Processed feed may improve feed conversion rates. There's also less waste. Many Bale King owners report feed savings of 20% or more.

MOHRSVILLE (Berks Co.) — Pennsylvania Lamb and Wool Queen Ashley Shollenberger has a tough job: convince people to eat more lamb.

"Everyone who tries it, likes it, but hardly anyone will take the samples," Ashley said of store promotions.

She hears lame excuses such as "I'm too old to eat lamb" or "I never ate it, but I know I won't like it."

These attitudes are disheartening to the bubbly 17-year-old who knows it is only through tasting tender American lamb that consumers' negative attitudes will change.

"But I love school promotions. Kids are too young to have preconceived ideas about lamb," Ashley said. "Kids are curious and full of questions."

Ashley, her parents Penny and Jeffrey, a brother Justin, 16, and a sister Amber, 12, raise a melange of animals on their 90-acre farm.

The farm has been in the Shollenberger family for five generations and is mostly a cash crop and veal operation, but almost every species of animal available to raise in the state has at one time or other been part of the family's collection.

"My husband and the kids are such suckers for animals," Penny said in explanation. That's how the kids ended up raising lambs, heifers, a horse, chickens, and pigs for 4-H projects. It's also how they ended up with turkeys, an African hedgehog, raccoon, gerbils, rabbits, mice, hermit crabs, fish, crayfish, and tadpoles, toads, salamanders, chipmunks, and other odd pets.

The family is raising a bottle-fed lamb. Ashley explained that the lamb, named "Second Chance," was born the wrong way with its head first. The lamb's twin survived but Second Chance had an extremely swollen head, was black and blue, barely breathing, and was too weak to nurse.

Typical of the family, they brought Second Chance into the house, turned up the heat to keep him warm, and began feeding him with a syringe, even getting up twice during the night to feed him.

After massaging the lamb's throat, physical therapy, and other pampering, Second Chance progressed to bottle feeding. At three weeks of age, Second Chance is a frisky, adorable lamb with no lingering signs of his traumatic birth.

Penny sometimes complains about all the animals that are nuftured in the basement of the house. In addition to pets, turkeys, chickens, lamb, and calves have been nursed in the basement. Penny took things in stride even after a garter snake got loose in the house and couldn't be found. She believes that animals are a great learning experience for kids.

Kitchen Kaper Tour Features Log Cabin Llama Farm

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — The annual Kitchen Kaper Tulip Tour will again provide splendid homes filled with decorating ideas, food specialties provided by area restaurants, and the latest floral designs by florists and greenhouses.

Log Cabin Llama Farm is one of the stops on the tour. The farm, owned by Dr. David and Flo Harnish, is most often lauded for its llamas and the picturesque surroundings complete with a log cabin. But the tour offers a glimpse into the rambling Cloister-Shaker style home built by the Harnishes in 1977.

The wood siding, steep shingled roof, and simple lines typical of Shaker homes was achieved by builder Hans Neufeld. Hand-hewn log beams and stone removed from an Lancaster County barn were incorporated with newly decorated areas. A 12x23-foot beam and stunning stone fireplace stretch the whole width of the living room.

The home exudes the personalities of the Harnishes. It is furnished with family antiques, artwork by Flo and their three adult children, and pieces gathered from Africa, where the Harnishes previously served as missionairies.

In strategic places, Flo has arranged family quilts and those purchased from county seamstresses. A large antique armoire holds a collection of quilts, comforters, a pitcher and wash bowl handed down from Harnish's family. Extensive bookshelves are lined with books and primitive artwork interspersed with African mohogany and Russian dolls. Both braided and oriental rugs top hardwood floors.

A wall of windows opens to a southern exposure for the purpose of passive heat transfer. But the sunlight that streams through the windows gives the home a sunny, welcoming aura. An attached greenhouse can be viewed through the dining room patio doors.

The large kitchen, the labor of both Harnishes, is on display. They preserve food together, which is displayed above the cabinets with pottery pieces formed by the Harnish's daughter. A spinning wheel and skeins of llama yarn shows that Flo is a spinner.

Flo, known locally as the Llama Lady, spends much time among her beloved llamas. She has 24 classic North American llamas with more to give birth.

Although the purpose of the tour is to view the inside of the home, Flo said that guests are welcome to walk around the grounds to admire the llamas, three peacocks, and a guinea flock.

For the tour, Esbenshade's Greenhouse will provide floral beauty and delicasies will be served by Sweet Encounters.

Other homes open for tour include the following:

- Susan Ann Lewis, 140 Mason Dr., Ephrata. Florist is Royer's Flower Shop and food is to be provided by Akron Restaurant.
- John and Ellen Snader, 993 Lincoln Heights Ave., Ephrata. Florist is The Ephrata Flower Shop and food samples provided by Lily's On Main.
- 1777 House Donecker's Guest House, 301 W. Main St., Ephrata. La Fleur Boutique will provide floral decor and The Restaurant at Donecker's will serve food.
- Nichole Shaeffer, 10 Santa Fe Dr. Lititz. Brossman's Flower Shop will decorate and tasty morsels will be served by V&M Country Pride.
- Pat and Jerry Imhoff, 117 Valley View Dr., Ephrata. Florist is Gabby's Place and food will be provided by Sunset Diner.
- Philip and Marion Rutt, 964 Martin Ave., Ephrata. Charm House will decorate and an unnamed restaurant will provide food.

The tour is scheduled for Monday, April 26, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Tickets are $8 per person and should be ordered in advance as the number sold is limited. For tickets, send a check made out to the sponsor, GFWC Women's Club, and a self-addressed stamped business-sized evelope to Edith Graff, 26 Frederick Ave., Denver, PA 17517 or to Marian Shook, 936 Dawn Ave., Ephrata, PA 17522. For more information, call Lorraine Wert at (717) 733-7487.

A limited number of tickets will be available for $9 each on the day of the tour at the Ephrata Church of the Brethren, 201 Crescent Ave., Ephrata. Crafts will also be available for purchase at the church.

All proceeds are donated to local charities.

Dr. David and Flo Harnish welcome guests to their home. Notice the hand-hewed beam and stone fireplace that extends the width of the home. These were removed from an old barn to achieve a Cloister-Shaker style home.

On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

This package came as a surprise

A return address from Louisiana immediately gave away the identity of the senders, friends who had moved there a few years ago from their home in another distant state. Inside the box was an assortment of items representative of their regional "cajun" foods spicy seasoning, mixes of "dirty rice" and jambalaya, a can of tomatoes with chilies, instant coffee with chicory, and a large bottle of Tabasco sauce hot enough to season us for eternity

What a delightful treat!

In an effort to return the favor, I've been polling friends and family on what items might be gathered into a recipratory sort of thank-you box showcasing traditional "Pennsylvania Dutch" culture. Among the suggestions have been whoopie pies, egg noodles, apple butter, hard pretzels, chowchow, shoofly pie. Even hogmaw. Which we decided would be near-impossible to ship and confound the dickens out of the recipients.

You eat WHAT from a pig?

Oh, and a hex sign. For good luck

With the Easter holiday season upon us, what could be a more appropriate food than a traditional Pennsylvania Dutch—pickled redbeet egg? But how in the world would one send them, short of packing those treats in dry ice. And would redbeet eggs be any less baffling to the unitiated than dining on a hog stomach?

As a kid, Easter and pickled redbeet eggs were synonymous. Sometimes during the week before Easter, Mom would hard-boil a big kettle of eggs. We kids would gather round the kitchen table covered with newspaper for safety, based on the premise that at least one of us would manage to spill one of those little prone-to-tip, individual bottles of egg dye. We would emerge from the effort with a basketful of crazy-quilt-colored eggs, splotchy-colored fingers, soggy newsprint from where we had spilled the requisite bottle of dye and probably enough mess to make Mom grateful Easter only came once a year.

(When I couldn't find any a few weeks ago, a good friend tracked down for me some of those packs of Easter egg dye in little bottles to ship west for our grandsons. Their Oregon neighborhood stores carry only the dip-and-dunk kinds.)

After coloring came the fun of hiding the eggs, hunting the eggs, occasionally losing, breaking or sharing an egg with the dogs. Ultimately, though, some of them would emerge as delicious redbeet eggs, peeled, hard-boiled easter eggs swimming in bright red-purple juice in company with slices of pickled beets.

A more logical choice to ship to our Louisiana friends might be onion-skin-dyed eggs. These, too, must have Pennsylvania Dutch roots; most folks have never heard of the warm-brown-colored Easter symbols. Again, Mom made these each Easter, using the accumulation of papery-dry onion skins which had accumulated during their storage over the winter.

The way Mom made these resulted in a sort of very humble cousin to the intricately-colored psanky eggs of Russian culture. Both are decorated using wax, the psanky eggs taking numerous coats of wax and dye baths, while the onion-skin eggs merely need to be hard-boiled along with the onion skins covered with water. To decorate them, Mom simply took a crayon and drew designs on the raw eggs. As the eggs cooked in the onion-skins, the wax-covered area picked up less of the color, leaving the design idelibly lighter than the warm-brown-dyed surrounding shell.

Perhaps I can blow the contents from a couple of eggs destined for cooking or baking and onion-skin dye them as an example. Or ship hard-boiled ones carefully packed with a Do-Not-Eat! warning.

Sharing traditional foods - at least what can be shipped back and forth - is a delightful way to partake of distant cultures one might not otherwise experience.

We may celebrate Easter with a culture clash; pickled eggs laced with Tabasco

The Good And The 'Baaad'

Nonetheless, Penny has one off-limits rule that she tells the kids: "You can have anything but a spider in the house."

Many of the animals that found temporary residence in the home were not planned. One year, the family purchased a Christmas tree. After they set it up and were sitting around admiring the tree, they were shocked when a flying squirrel leaped from the branches.

The sisters explain that every animal on their farm has a "story" that goes with it. For example, the girls' dad went to the auction to purchase a steer to raise for butchering. Because none of the steers met his criteria, he purchased a heifer. Three weeks later, to the family's surprise, the heifer gave birth to a calf.

"That's how I ended up with a red-and-white-faced heifer for a 4-H project," Amber said. It's also the typical continuation of the story of how the heifer—like the lambs and many others animals on the farm—was never butchered but kept to produce more offspring. Now several red-and-white-faced heifers graze on the family farm.

Ashley also has two bred Charolais, which her mom said, "She spoils the heck out of because they are so cute."

"If we would find a gorilla in the woods, we would tame it," Amber said of the family's penchant for adopting every species possible. The story is told that Amber gave CPR to her pet mouse and physical therapy to veal calves.

Ashley offers a carrot to Big Boy. The quarter horse is one of the more "normal" animals the Shollenbergers count as pets. In addition to hogs, steers, sheep, and calves, the family has raised an African hedgehog, raccoon, chipmunks, turkeys, and a large collection of other pets on their farm.

Such in-depth experience for raising a variety of animals has been profitable in Ashley's exposure to the public when doing lamb promotions. Ashley told of one young woman who accosted her and said, "Do you know how they raise lambs?" Further conversation revealed that it was evident the woman wasn't referring to lambs but to veal calves.

"We raise veal calves, so I know they are not mistreated or raised the way animal rightists claim," Ashley said. People's misconceptions about the care of farm animals are troubling to her.

Another thing that boggles her mind is the people who claim to be vegetarians yet say they eat chicken and turkey.

Penny works part-time as a nurse. She was the former school board president. That position opened her eyes to things that concerned her in the school system. For that reason, and at the request of the children, who were all in the gifted program, the family opted for home schooling.

"It's a lot of work, and if the children did not want to be homeschooled, we wouldn't do it," Penny said. In fact, their son returned

(Turn to Page B5)

The girls pamper their animals so much that Ashley said, "Our pigs are notoriously hyper in the the show ring or they lay down and won't get up."

"Our animals are all eccentric and have their own distinct personalities," Amber said.

Amber raises 12 Buff chickens to sell brown eggs. She has more requests than eggs to meet the orders.

"There is a big difference in homegrown brown eggs," Amber said. "The shell is so thick you can hardly crack it open, and the eggs taste much better than store-bought."

Their dad raises 40 free-range turkeys that people beg to order annually.

The Shollenberger home is situated high on a hill in an isolated area surrounded by timber stands and overlooking miles of rolling valleys. From the home's windows, the family daily views wildlife such as deer and wild turkeys grazing in their yard. That's how the family saw a baby raccoon fall out of tree and rescued it and nursed it back to health.

to public schooling this year, "for the social aspects."

But Ashley and Amber preferred homeschooling and have been home schooled for five years. This year Ashley is taking an advanced placement history course online and courses in chemistry and Latin through the University of Oklahoma.

Because of their academic standing, all of the Shollenberger children were selected to take PSATs when they were in fifth grade. Amber also competed with students three grades ahead of her and took second place in an area Geography bee. Both girls are also members of a reading and writing club, which requires them to read at least 800 pages of month in research and write about it.

Opportunities such as these would be missed, Ashley believes, if she were in public school. The girls report that their mother is the toughest teacher they ever had.

Penny responded, "That's because I know exactly what they are capable of doing. I don't require anything that they are not capable of doing."

Their father teaches them math and geometry courses, which the girls say are not their favorite subjects.

As far as social relationships with peers, the sisters have plenty of interaction through participation in multiple 4-H clubs and in the church youth group. Ashley was one of 29 students selected to participate in the Berks County Community Foundation from all the 9th, 10th, and 11th graders in Berks County. The foundation helps decide where grant monies allocated for children in the county should be distributed. The members visit different organizations that work with children to help them make the decision.

Last year, Ashley attended a five-day leadership conference at Albright College, Reading.

Her mother recalls, "Ashley was panic-stricken when she saw the small dorm rooms. She begged to set up a tent on campus rather than be crammed into the small quarters."

Nonetheless Ashley survived but reports that she will definitely not attend a city college. "I want to go to a small college as far away from the city as possible," she said.

Much to Ashley's chagrin, her mother signed her up for public speaking through Toastmasters several years ago. Although Ashley was dubious about participating in public speaking and it still isn't her forte, she admits that her training probably paid a part in helping her attain the state crown.

Through 4-H involvement, Ashley has made guest appearances on radio and television, whick provided additional opportunities to draw upon her public speaking training.

"I don't know why every youth doesn't join 4-H. It has so much to offer," Ashley said of educational and social activities.

Ashley is president of the swine club and vice president of the sheep club.

Although she is much younger than many members, Amber was selected as secretary of the swine club.

The sisters were in charge of the fundraiser for the lamb club this past year. They came up with the idea of taking pictures of fair visitors with a sheep and selling the pictures for $3 a piece.

"It was a great fundraiser." Ashley said.

(Turn to Page B7)

Amber raises 12 Buff chickens in order to have brown eggs to sell. She has more orders than eggs. She said, "The egg shell is so thick you can hardly crack it open, and the eggs taste much better than white or store-bought eggs."

Easter Simplicity

Tender new grass, sunny yellow daffodils, and Easter celebrations mark the joyful season of renewal. It's a wonderful time to gather family and cherished friends for an elegant Easter dinner.

But, with time contraints, cooks want elegance that's quick and easy to prepare. Saving time in the kitchen translates to more time visiting with guests.

Fully cooked hams simplify preparation. A fully cooked ham should be heated to 140 degrees internal temperature. A simple glaze is the finishing touch that makes the menu extra special.

Today's selection of recipes include favorites from readers, fresh ideas from commodity groups, and traditional favorites.

Happy Easter!

DIJON GREEN BEANS AMANDINE

2 pounds fresh or frozen whole green beans
¼ cup butter
¼ cup Dijon mustard
½ to 1 teaspoon dried dill
¼ cup sliced almonds, toasted

Cook and stir beans in butter in large skillet over medium-high heat just until tender-crisp.

Add mustard and dill; toss well and heat through.

CHOCOLATE MOUSSE NAPOLEONS WITH STRAWBERRIES AND CREAM

½ (17.4-ounce) package frozen puff pastry sheets
1 cup heavy cream
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
6-ounce package semisweet chocolate pieces, melted, cooled
2 cups sweetened whipped cream or whipped topping
1½ cups sliced strawberries
1-ounce square semisweet chocolate, melted (optional)
Confectioner's sugar

Thaw pastry sheet at room temperature 30 minutes. Preheat oven at 400 degrees.

Unfold pastry on lightly floured surface. Cut into 3 strips along fold marks. Cut each strip into six rectangles.

Bake 15 minutes or until golden.

Remove from baking sheet and cool on wire rack.

In medium bowl, place cream and cinnamon. Beat with electric mixer at high speed until stiff peaks form. Fold in melted chocolate pieces. Split pastries into two layers. Spread 12 rectangles with chocolate cream. Top with another rectangle. Spread with whipped cream, sliced strawberries and remaining rectagles. Drizzle melted chocolate over pastries if desired; sprinkle with confectioner's sugar. Serve immediately or cover and refrigerate up to 4 hours.

Whether your gathering is large or small, preparing and sharing an Easter dinner will win raves by using today's recipes.

SWEET POTATO CASSEROLE

3 cups mashed sweet potatoes
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
⅓ cup milk
½ cup melted butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Topping:
½ cup packed brown sugar
¼ cup flour
2½ tablespoons melted butter
½ cup chopped pecans

Combine sweet potatoes, sugar, eggs, butter, vanilla, and milk; mix well. Cover with topping. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Topping: Combine all ingredients, mixing well; sprinkle on top of potato mixture before baking.

KEY LIME PIE

3 eggs, separated
14-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
½ cup lime juice
2 or 3 drops green food coloring, optional
9-inch unbaked pie crust
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
⅓ cup sugar

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. With mixer, beat egg yolks in medium-sized bowl; gradually beat in sweetened condensed milk and food coloring, if desired. Pour into pie crust.

Bake 30 minutes. Remove from oven. Increase oven temperature to 350 degrees.

Meanwhile for meriungue, with clean mixer, beat egg whites with cream of tarter to soft peaks. Gradually beat in sugar, one tablespoon at a time, beat 4 minutes longer or until stiff, glossy peaks form and sugar is dissolved.

Immediately spread meringue over hot pie, carefully setting to edge of crust to prevent meringue from shrinking. Bake 15 minutes. Cool one hour. Chill at least 3 hours. Store leftovers covered in refrigerator.

HAM 'N CHEESE POTATO BAKE

24-ounce frozen hash browns
2 cups cubed cooked ham
¾ cup shredded cheddar cheese, divided
1 small onion, chopped
2 cups sour cream
1 can condensed cream of potato soup, undiluted
¼ teaspoon pepper

In a large bowl, combine potatoes, ham, ½ cup cheese, and onion. In another bowl, combine sour cream, soups, and pepper; add to potato mixture and mix well. Transfer to greased 3-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 60-65 minutes or until bubbly and potatoes are tender. Let stand for 10 minutes before serving.

HOLLYWOOD BREAD

1 whole loaf Italian or French bread
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
½ cup grated parmesan cheese
1 cup mayonnaise

Optional:
Chopped green onion
Chopped olives
Chives

Slice bread lengthwise. Mix cheeses and mayonnaise, add onions, olives, and chives, and spread evenly over bread. Place under broiler until cheese mixture is melted and bubbly and slightly browned. Watch carefully.

Featured Recipe

For many families, serving lamb for Easter dinner is a tradition. It's one that Pennsylvania Lamb and Wool Queen Ashley Shollenberger would like to expand.

She said, "Everyone who tries lamb, likes it. But's it's difficult to get people to try it if they never had it before."

Ashley knows that lamb offers high-quality nutrition, interest and appetite appeal. She suggests those who are unfamiliar with lamb, start out by cooking lamb like they do their favorite beef recipe.

Easter dinner is a great time to start. Offer it as an additional meat if you prefer to introduce a new taste slowly.

Take Ashley's advice, and try the following recipe, which is one of Ashley's favorites. Read more about Ashley and the Shollenberger family featured in this week's B-section.

SUNFLOWER SEED-CRUSTED LAMB CHOPS

1 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
2 large cloves garlic, minced
4 large or 8 small lamb chops
¼ cup Dijon mustard
2 tablespoons ground salted sunflower seeds
Vegetable oil to film skillet

Crush thyme and mash together with pepper and garlic. Rub both sides of lamb chops with mixture. Spread mustard on both sides of chops. Spread with ground sunflower seeds. Film a large skillet with oil and heat until very hot. Saute chops on high heat, about 5 minutes on each side or until done.

The club donated a substantial amount of the earnings to send four county 4-H'ers to the national meat judging competition in Kansas City.

Both girls take piano lessons. For several years, Ashley had taken clarinet and oboe lessons. Amber also takes dance and art lessons. The sisters are avid readers and their mother often needs to confiscate flashlights taken to bed for the purpose of continual reading instead of sleeping.

Both girls share a job cleaning an older person's home. The home is filled with antiques and interesting stuff that fascinates Amber. Her older sister has to constantly remind her that they are there to clean, not to admire the home's furnishings.

Because Ashley is disciplined in studying, she is able to fulfill her duties as state lamb and wool queen and participate in many other activities.

Although difficult, Ashley continues to encourage lamb consumption. Here are some of her favorite recipes.

HEARTY LAMB CHILI

1 pound lean ground American lamb
1 cup onion, chopped
1 cup celery, chopped
16-ounce can kidney beans, undrained
16-ounce can tomato sauce
1 tablespoon chili powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
¼ teaspoon dry basil leaves, crushed
2 teaspoons sugar
1 cup salsa or picante sauce
3 cups cooked rice (optional)

Spray large skillet with non-stick pan coating.

Cook lamb, celery, and onion over medium heat until lamb is no longer pink. Drain well; add remaining ingredients. Simmer on low for 30 to 45 minutes, stirring occasionally.

For a more traditional chili, omit the salsa; but for more zest, include the salsa or picante sauce. This chili is quite thick and can be served over rice.

BUFFALO CHIPS

1 loaf party rye
1 pound ground beef
1 pound ground lamb
1 pound Velveeta, cubed
1 tablespoon garlic powder
1 tablespoon basil
1 tablespoon oregano

Brown meats, drain fat. Cube Velveeta and mix with warm meat until melted. Add spices and stir until blended. Place one heaping tablespoon or more on each slice of party rye. Place on cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees for 10-15 minutes or until mixture is heated through.

LAMB STEW

2 pounds lean lamb
2 onions
2 tablespoons flour
1½ tablespoons butter
2 cloves garlic
1 sprig thyme
1 bunch parsley
2 cups water
¼ pounds small mushrooms
½ cup evaporated milk
Salt and pepper to taste

Slice onions. Toss in seasoned flour and fry in butter. Put meat and onions in a casserole with garlic, thyme, and parsley. Add water. Press wax paper over meat and cover casserole with a tight lid. Cook at 350 degrees for 1½ hours. Discard thyme and parsley. Add mushrooms, stir, and cook for 20 minutes, until meat is tender. Stir in hot evaporated milk.

CABBAGE LAMB CASSEROLE

1 medium onion, chopped
1 stalk celery, chopped
3 tablespoons butter
¾ pound ground lamb
½ teaspoon salt
1 medium cabbage, shredded
2 apples, sliced thin

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In skillet, saute onion and celery. Add lamb and salt, stir together 2 minutes. Spread half the cabbage in a 2-quart baking dish and cover with half the apples and all the meat mixture. Add remaining cabbage and apple. Cover and bake one hour.

All About Wool

It is true that wool is comfortable to wear in both warm and cool climates?

Yes Wool helps regulate body temperature because it is an absorbent fiber When the air is cool and damp wool absorbs moisture and keeps a layer of dry, insulating air next to the skin. When it's warm, that same absorption capacity takes up perspiration and keeps insulating dry air next to the skin. .making the body's natural cooling system work better

What about the flammability of woolen fabrics.

Wool is the only fiber that naturally resists flaming Unlike many artificial fibers, which often melt and stick to the skin when on fire, wool usually smolders or chars instead of bursting into flame. Although wool will burn under intense fire, it normally self-extinguishes when the flame source is removed A hot cigarette ash on a woolen skirt, for example, usually goes out without damage because wool doesn't melt and will not support combustion.

Do all wool fabrics shrink if washed?

Some do, some don't. Woolen fabrics that have not been treated for washability will shrink because wool has a central hollow core made up of overlaps like shingles on a roof or scales on a fish Agitate these untreated fibers in soap and hot water and they interlock so that each fiber can't spring back to its original length, thus the fabric shrinks

Chemists have developed a mild, thin resin which is spread evenly over the fiber surface before spinning, It eliminates the friction between the overlapping scales of the central core of each fiber and eliminates shrinkage

How can I tell which wools won't shrink?

Just look for the Superwash® mark The mark certifies that the fabric in the garment has been treated for machine washability and dryability under strict standards set by The Wool Bureau, Inc

How can wool shed rain and absorb moisture?

Wool is slow to absorb drops of water yet readily absorbs moisture in vapor form Each wool fiber has a waxlike outer skin or epicuticle This thin protective film acts like your raincoat to shed even a moderate shower In addition most woolen and worsted fabrics have a hairlike surface which encourages raindrops to run off much like a bird's feathers On the other hand, wool fibers are hygroscop-

ANSWER — Shirley Miller, Nazereth, wanted recipes using pastry flour, a recipe for doughnuts baked in the oven, and for a doughnut mix that can be mixed up at home. Thanks to Catherine Parrish, Ebensburg, for sending in the following recipe.

No-Fry Doughnuts

2 packages active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
1½ cups lukewarm milk (scaled then cooled)
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 eggs
⅓ cup shortening
4½ cups flour
¼ cup butter
Cinnamon and sugar for glaze

In large mixer bowl, dissolve yeast in warm water. Add milk, sugar, salt, nutmeg, cinnamon, eggs, shortening, and 2 cups flour. Blend one-half minute on low speed, scraping bowl constantly. Beat 2 minutes, medium speed. Stir in remaining flour until smooth. Cover. Let rise 50-60 minutes.

Turn dough onto floured board. Roll about one-half inch thick. Cut with floured doughnut cutter. Lift with spatula, place 2-inches apart on greased baking sheet. Brush doughnuts with melted butter. Cover, let rise until double. Bake at 425 degrees for 8-10 minutes. Brush with melted butter and shake on cinnamon-sugar.

ANSWER — John Telford, Swampscott, Mass., wanted the following old Dutch recipe. Thanks to Luella Staner, Red Lion, for sending her recipe.

Sour Cream Coffee Cake

1½ cups sugar
¾ cup butter
3 eggs
1½ teaspoons vanilla
3 cups flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder
1½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
1½ cups sour cream

Use tube pan, grease well. Mix first four ingredients. Beat well, alternately added flour, baking powder, baking soda, and salt with sour cream.

Filling:
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup nuts, chopped fine
1½ teaspoons cinnamon

Sprinkle half of filling around on middle of batter. Add remaining batter. Sprinkle remaining filling on top of batter. Bake at 325-350 degrees for one hour. Let cool in pan. When removed from pan, turn cake over so that crumbs will be on top of cake.

ANSWER — A long time reader from Ticonderoga, N.Y., wanted recipes that use northern-hardy kiwi, which is small and grapesized with a smooth skin. Thanks to Donna Morrison, Dalmatia, for sending recipes. To make kiwi puree, stem ripe kiwi and put through a food sieve.

Kiwi Jam

4 cups kiwi puree (about 3 quarts picked kiwi)
4½ cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin
Follow directions on fruit pectin box.

Kiwi-Pineapple Jam

3½ cups prepared pineapple (from fresh pineapple)
1 cup kiwi puree
5½ cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin
Follow directions on fruit pectin package.

Easter Simplicity

HAM WITH STRAWBERRY DIJON SAUCE

1 oven baking bag
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
2 6-ounce cans pineapple juice
¾ cup honey
½ cup Dijon mustard
5-7-pound boneless fully cooked ham
Whole cloves
1 quart strawberries, cleaned and halved

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Shake flour in oven bag, place in 13x9x2-inch baking pan.

Add pineapple juice, honey, and mustard to oven bag. Squeeze oven bag to blend ingredients.

Using a table kinfe, lightly score surface of ham in a diamond pattern, insert cloves. Place ham in oven bag. Close oven bag with nylon tie; cut in six ½ -inch slits on top.

Bake for 1¾ -2¼ hours or until meat thermometer reads 140 degrees. To serve, cut open oven bag and transfer ham to serving platter. Stir strawberries into sauce in oven bag. Serve with ham.

HAM BALLS

1½ pounds ham loaf mix
1½ cups bread crumbs
2 eggs
½ cup milk

Sauce:
¾ cup brown sugar
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup water
¼ cup pineapple juice
½ teaspoon prepared mustard

Mix first four ingredients and shape into balls. Makes 8 balls. Sauce: Mix sauce ingredients and bring to a boil. Pour over ham balls. Bake for one hour at 325 degrees.

APRICOT GLAZED HAM

5-pound fully-cooked ham
1 cup apricot nectar
1 cup apricot preserves
¼ cup orange marmalade
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Place ham and apricot nectar in roasting pan. In small bowl, combine remaining ingredients. Spread preserves mixture over surface of ham. Loosely cover and bake in 325 degree oven for 1¼ hours or until meat thermometer registers 140 degrees basting ham with pan juices every 20 minutes. Slice ham and place on a serving platter. Spoon juices over ham.

CREAMY SWEET CORN

2 cups fresh or frozen corn
¼ cup half and half cream
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt

In a saucepan, combine all ingredients. Bring to a boil over medium heat; reduce heat. Simmer, uncovered, for 6-8 minutes or until heated through.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Kenneth Hixon, Warfordsburg, wanted a recipe for spiced sickle pears, which are spiced with the peels intact. Thanks to Joan Rohrbach, Shoemakervilles, for sending a recipe, which instructs peeling the pears.

Spiced Sickle Pears

7 pounds pears
6 cups sugar
2 cups cider vinegar
1 cup water
1 tablespoon whole cloves
6 sticks cinnamon

Peel the whole pears. Do not core or take off stems. Combine sugar, vinegar, and water to make syrup.

Tie spices in a muslin bag to boil in syrup for 30 minutes. Add pears and cook until tender. With a spoon, carefully place pears in jars. Boil syrup rapidly for another half hour. Pour syrup over fruit. Seal jars. Makes 5 pints.

ANSWER — A reader from Topton wanted a recipe for peanut butter and coconut eggs for a diabetic. Thanks to Betty Light, Lebanon, for sending recipes that she uses.

Diabetic Candy

Powdered Sugar Replacement

2 cups nonfat dry milk
2 cups cornstarch
1 cup granulated sugar replacement

Combine all ingredients in food processor or blender. Whip until well blended and fine powder forms.

Store in airtight container.

Semi Sweet Dipping Chocolate

1 cup nonfat dry milk powder
⅓ cup cocoa
½ cup water
1 tablespoon liquid shortening
1 tablespoon liquid sugar replacement

Combine milk powder and cocoa and wax in food processor; blend until soft powder. Pour into top of double boiler and add water, stir to blend. Add liquid shortening. Place over hot water (not boiling) and cook and stir until wax is melted. Remove from heat, stir in sugar replacement and cool slightly. Dip candies, shake off chocolate exces and place on waxed paper sprayed with nonstick spray. Store candies in cool place.

Basic Creme Centers

3-ounces cream cheese, softened
1 cup powdered sugar replacement
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Beat cream cheese until fluffy. Stir in powdered sugar replacement, water, and vanilla.

Knead or work by hand until dough is smooth.

Dough may be divided into parts and different flavoring and food color added to each part.

Diabetic Coconut Candy

1¼ cups unsweetened coconut, grated, divided
½ cup milk
2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon white vanilla extract
1 recipe semi-sweet chocolate dipping

In a food processor or blender, combine ¼ cup coconut to milk, gelatin, and cornstarch. Blend until smooth. Pour into saucepan and cook over medium heat until thickened. Remove from heat, stir in vanilla and remaining coconut.

Form into 16 patties. Allow to cool completely. Dip into chocolate; place on waxed paper sprayed with non-stick spray.

Yields 16 candies. Exchanges: 1 candy = ⅓ cup whole milk and ½ fat; 66 calories, and 4 g carbohydrates.

ANSWER — Herman Ikeler, Bloomsburg, wanted a recipe for dried cured pepperoni. Thanks to R. Fisher, Mifflin, for sending the following recipe.

Pepperoni Sticks

1 pound meat and fat mixture (meat and fat should be weighed to have the right proportions of 3 to 1)
1½ tablespoon curing salt
⅛ teaspoon red pepper
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
⅛ teaspoon crushed anise
¼ teaspoon crushed fennel
⅛ teaspoon black pepper

Grind and mix together ingredients. Using wax paper, roll mixture into log shapes no larger than 1½ inches in diameter. Refrigerate rolls 36 hours. Bake on broiler rack at 200 degrees for 4 hours.

Wool

ic which means they absorb moisture in vapor form Wool can absorb up to 30 percent of its weight in moisture and still feel comfortably dry Even damp wool feels comfortable because it holds a layer of air next to the skin

Why are some wool garments comfortable next to the skin and others aren't?

Knit or woven wool fabrics use two basic types of yarns, woolen or worsted. Woolen yarns are spun from fibers (1" to 3" long) that have been carded only These softer yarns are not twisted tightly, so more fiber ends touch the skin Also, the points of the structural scales of the fiber itself can reach the skin This particularly true of the coarser wools

The worsted system spins yarns from longer, usually finer fabrics after they have been both carded and combed, thus the fibers are more parallel going into the yarn — which is also twisted more tightly than woolen yarns The combination of the finer fibers and tighter spinning puts fewer fiber scale ends next to the skin

Wool feels soft and luxurious, is resilient with natural elasticity and it resist wrinkles Crush, stretch or twist wool and it springs back into shape Wool garments don't bag or sag and they are durable Wool wears for years with lasting good looks Wool is a good investment

Decorate Easter Eggs The Ukrainian Way

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

Long before the birth of Christ, when survival depended upon nature, a tradition began in Eastern Europe where people believed an image on an egg would ensure the sun's return. Dots on an egg stood for the stars.

Since Christ's birth, symbols on Ukrainian Easter Eggs have come to represent many things. Dots symbolize the tears of Mary, white eggshells mean purity, and eggs themselves symbolize new life.

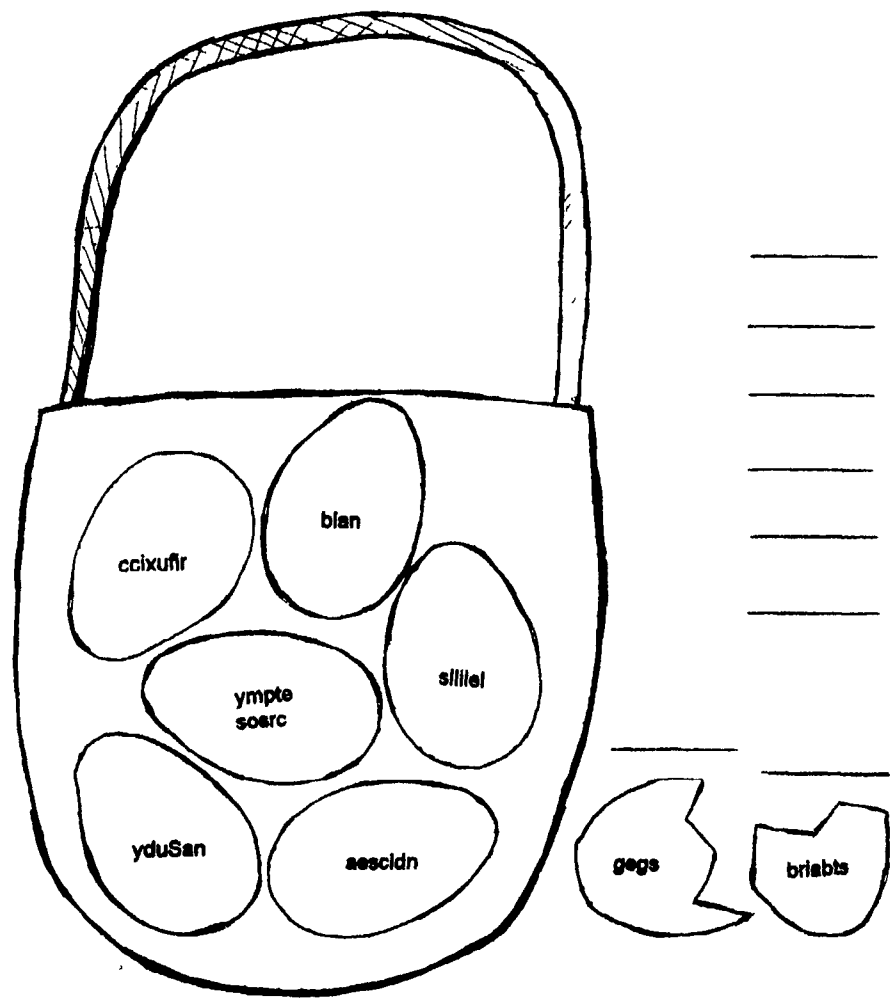
The Ukrainians added their own symbols. Rams' horns for strength and friendship, spirals for protection; wheat, stars, and triangles for mother, father, and children, horses or reindeer for wealth or prosperity; and spiders and webs for good luck The Ukrainians believed that a chick hatching and rolling out of the shell represented rolling the tombstone from where Christ was buried.

Even colors have meaning. Red is for the sun; brown and orange for nature, the earth, and crops; blue represents water, sea, and sky; and black means eternity, darkness, and the time before dawn.

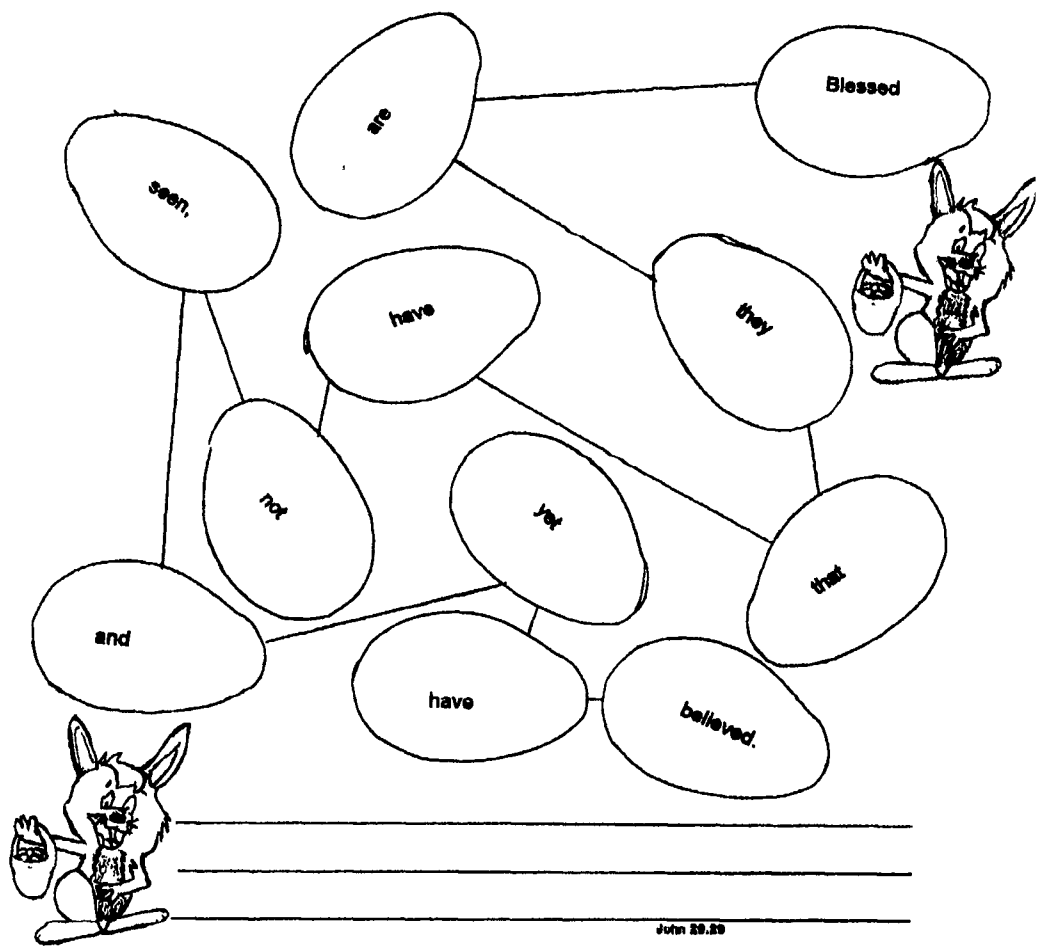
Now when you color your Easter Eggs, use a wax crayon to create all kinds of designs! Dip your decorated eggs into food coloring and vinegar for a rich color, then carefully scrape away the wax. Your design will remain white!

Unscramble these Easter Egg mysteries!

These familiar Easter Symbols are all related to the New Testament Easter Story, except for the one that fell out of the basket!



These rabbits have hidden more than Easter Eggs. Hop on down the bunny trail to find out what Jesus had to say about faith. Write the Bible verse below.



Answer: Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed.

Answers: empty cross, lilies, Sunday, crucifix, lamb, candles, eggs, and rabbits

The bedtime rhyme might make you think bed bugs are a creation of Mother Goose Sorry, friends They're real
There are about 75 different kinds of bed bugs Adult bed bugs are reddish-brown, oval shaped, and about a quarter-inch long These nocturnal insects feed by sucking the blood of humans and other warm-blooded animals, such as bats, birds and rabbits
Bed bugs get their dinner in much the same way mosquitoes do When they bite, they inject a fluid into the skin that thins the blood so it's easier to obtain The fluid irritates your skin, leaving itchy welts A bed bug fills up on blood in about five minutes Then, it crawls to a hiding place to digest its meal Adult bed bugs usually go two to eight weeks without food Sometimes, they can even go up to a year without eating!
When the conditions are right, a female bed bug can lay about 200 eggs So, it's no surprise the bed bugs can become a full-scale pest pretty quick They tend to be more of a problem in laboratories or poultry houses, where animals are kept in close quarters They also are found in old buildings, hotels, theaters and other dwellings, especially in places where there are lots of cracks and crevices to hide in
Don't worry too much, though Bed bugs are pretty rare in homes And, even if you did have a few bed bugs, washing your sheets and vacuuming regularly would keep the numbers from getting out of control (Scientists don't think bed bugs or their relatives transmit diseases) So, sleep tight And don't let the bed bugs bite!

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

We live in a first class township with all the modern amenities A large police force, ambulance service, recreation board, zoning board and a comprehensive plan So, I was surprised recently when they invited some of the older citizens to a meeting to tell about the past

Some prepared big speeches while others only came to listen My contribution was mostly covering some of my ancestors One made 431 Shreiner Grandfather clocks Another owned a mill for 21 years, and I am privileged to own his large, leather record book dating from 1829 to 1850 While still another, my grandfather, owned the farm that is now Landis Homes' a retirement community

As our son is the 10th generation on the dairy farm, we have some records that date back to 1734 I've framed a draft of the area that shows black oak trees, big rocks, and a dogwood tree as landmarks.

My three times great-grandfather was Justice of the Peace in Manheim Township. Again, I have some of his handwritten agreements dating to the 1830s. He was also a surveyor for some 60 years.

Both sides of my family came to America from Germany and Switzerland in the early 1700s So, if one knows genealogy, one is related to many, many people in the county

Of course, all of this is in the distant past and I must relate to the present Tomorrow I will baby-sit one of our younger grandchildren We will read books and play hide and seek There will be cookies and milk to share There is so much history to share, but not everyone is interested. It seems that as we grow older, our thoughts drift back to times in the past

Westmoreland 4-H Leaders Kick Off New Year, Honor Adult Leaders

DAVID HIEBERT
Westmoreland Co.
Correspondent

GREENSBURG (Westmoreland Co. — The annual 4-H Westmoreland Leaders Kick Off Evening was held here at the Mt. View Inn in February.

About half of the 300 adult 4-H leaders attended this recognition and appreciation dinner. Four-H clubs in Westmoreland County serve about 3,200 members who completed 4,800 projects in 1997. The four mosts popular project areas in Westmoreland County are animal, science, food and nutrition, engineering, and leadership.

In his remarks, Gary Sheppard noted that the new staff hired had helped new 4-H clubs to begin. And in a final highlight of the year, plans and fund-raising are progressing for the William C. Kelly building at the fairgrounds. Ninety percent of the $150,000 needed for construction has been raised. The building should be up in time for this year's fair.

Sheppard related a story of a leader in the county who did not know that 4-H existed in the county. "We have a program that is distinct from other programs and we need to open our doors a little wider," so that more can learn and benefit from 4-H, he concluded.

Elections to the board of directors resulted in the following receiving terms: Sam Smail, Mt. Pleasant; Donna Lenhart, Bolivar; and John Vincze, New Alexandra.

A new volunteer handbook and two new project books were available on the handout table.

Service Honorees

First year: Connie Blystone, Gary Blystone, Ray Charley, Margaret Golik, Henry Hoffer, Kristy Kelly, Scott Lail, Lee Lenhart, Lonnie Lenhart, Barbara McMillan, Faith Newell, Melinda Panichelle, Richard Parker, Cindy Rowe, Sandra Sheraw, James Shusko, Samuel Smail, Vicki Snyder, and Craig Steele.

Fifth year: Denise Anderson, Richard Baker, Joyce Bischoff, Kathy Brown, Wilma Buttermore, Cynthia Capets, Anne Cook, Ronald Driggers, Barbara Hixson, Cliff Long, Jess Stairs, Laura Tissue, Marc Turner, and Dawn Welker.

Tenth year: Pat Marine, Barb Rager, Sandra Ruggiero, Samuel Smail, Mark Testa, Alberta Welker, and Bobbi Zieglar.

Fifteen-year: Leon Falbo.

Twenty-year: Fran Ferry, Betty Flowers, Sue Henderson, and George Sproat.

Twenty-five-year: Daniel Acosta, Joan Ebert, Betty Harr, Patty Kelly, Soctt Kelly, and Mary Zumbro.

Forty-year: Thelma Heide.

Judge Daniel Ackerman, assisted by Michelle Ganassi, 4-H county council member presents 40-year service recognition to Thelma Heide.

Jane Mecum, extension agent from Dauphin County, asked the question, "Why don't you think like me?" and offered insight on left-brained and right-brained people in her humorous after-dinner address.

Emcee for the Westmoreland 4-H leaders' kickoff, Jeff Sarault, is also president of the county council.

Gary L. Sheppard, county extension director, noted that the Westmoerland County Extension Website has become the largest of all extension sites in Pennsylvania.

Living With Grief

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — On Wednesday, April 14, Penn State Cooperative Extension will join 2,000 other organizations across the United States and Canada as a local host for the Hospice Foundation of America's sixth annual National Bereavement Teleconference.

"Living with Grief: At Work, At School, At Worship," a live via-satellite video conference, will examine the ways that grief influences us in various settings, such as the workplace, schools, or places of worship. The program will be broadcast from 1:30 - 4 p.m. at the extension meeting room, Wayne County Courthouse, 925 Court Street, Honesdale.

The program will offer humane and practical suggestions for those assisting grievers and for organizations who may have those struggling with illness and loss in their midst. The program will be moderated by Cokie Roberts of ABC News and will feature a distinguished panel of experts. The teleconference is produced by Hospice Foundation of America, a nonprofit organization established to assist those who cope either personally with terminal illness or the process of death, grief and bereavement. The teleconference is presented in conjunction with the Association Death Education and Counseling, The Compassionate Friends, Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD), with additional support from Service Corporation International Inc.

The teleconference is intended for both professionals and laypeople. Continuing Education credits are available for a wide range of professions, including nurses, physicians, counselors, emergency medical services personnel, psychologists and nursing home administrators. To learn more about this national program, visit the Hospice Foundation of America's website at www.hospicefoundation.org or call Debra Bryant at (570) 253-5970 x239.

2-for-1: A tedder and a rake

The Model 255 rake tedder is a flexible machine – it's the tedder that also rakes.

- Rake a swath into a windrow.
- Rake two windrows into one
- Turn windrows for faster drying
- Move crop away from fences or borders
- Ted a 10 1/2-foot area to fluff up wet, matted-down crop for quick drying

And you can change the "255" from one function to another without tools! Stop by for a demonstration.

Put quality silage under wraps

New Holland round bale wrappers are the low-cost alternative to traditional silage storage—they seal your silage bales in "mini silos". You can harvest silage during peak feed quality, store it with greater flexibility, and feed it more efficiently with less waste.

Choose from two models:

- Model B27P is an economic utility wrapper for medium-volume silage producers
- Model B37P is ideal for custom harvesters or operations wrapping large volumes of bales

Both offer a side-mounted lifting arm, three-belt turntable, two large side-support rollers, and cable controls. The B37P is available with computer controls

Kitchen Kaper Tour To Feature Log Cabin Llama Farm

In addition Eicher Arts Center, Cocalico St., Ephrata, will open its 1743 Eicher house and Indian Museum, where free coffee and homemade cookies provided by the Ephrata Women's Club will be served.

Here are some of the recipes for the cookie varieties that will be served.

Known locally as the "Llama Lady," Flo Harnish said tour participants are welcome to peek in at the llamas. She raises 24 classic North American llamas.

On the annual Kitchen Kaper Tulip Tour, guests at the Harnish home will be offered delicasies from Sweet Encounters. Note the assortment of canned goods atop the kitchen cabinets. Both Flo and her husband enjoy preserving food.

The Harnish home is furnished with family heirlooms and extensive artwork gathered from Africa and other places the couple have visited.

UNBEATABLES

2 cups confectioners' sugar
½ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup egg whites (3-4 eggs)
2 cups chopped walnuts
½ cup dried apricots

In mixing bowl, combine sugar, flour, baking powder, and egg whites. Add walnuts and apricots. Mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto well-greased cookie sheet.

Bake at 325 degrees for 15-18 minutes.

CLUB CRACKER COOKIES

1 stick butter
1 stick margarine
½ cup granulated sugar

Combine ingredients in a small saucepan and boil gently for 1-2 minutes.

On a jelly roll pan, place club crackers as close together as possible. Gently pour hot butter mixture over crackers.

Sprinkle ½ to 1 cup chopped walnuts on top.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Bake for 10-15 minutes. Check often because the cookies burn easily.

Cover an area with heavy duty foil. As soon as cookies are removed from the oven, use a metal spatula to place cookies on the foil. (Hurry, or cookies will stick to the pan).

When cooled, place in airtight container.

RASPBERRY CREAM CHEESE BARS

Crust:
2¾ cups graham cracker crumbs
5 tablespoon butter, melted

Topping:
2 8-ounce packages cream cheese
⅔ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 large eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup seedless red raspberry jam, melted

Heat oven to 350 degrees.

Mix crumbs and butter until moist. Press over bottom of 13x9-inch pan. Bake 12 minutes.

Beat cream cheese and sugar in large bowl with mixer until fluffy. Beat in cornstarch, eggs, salt, and vanilla. Pour over crumbs. Drizzle with warm jam, and using a rubber spatula, swirl to make a marblized effect.

Bake 25 minutes or until puffed. Cool in pan. Refrigerate at least three hours before cutting into squares.

If you like, drizzle melted white chocolate over squares.

Fiber Facts For Kids

Most of us as adults have probably heard of read that, in general Americans need to eat more foods that are a good source of fiber. This is because research shows that 25 to 35 grams of fiber eaten each day by adults may lessen the chance of developing heart disease, obesity, adult-onset diabetes, and some forms of cancer.

Children also will benefit by having enough fiber in the diet. However, it is important not to apply the adult recommendation for fiber to children. For this reason, health and nutrition experts have come up with the "age +5" fiber rule for children. This means, for example, if a child is eight years old, he should eat 13 grams of fiber a day (8 years + 5 = 13). By following this rule, and gradually increasing the amount of fiber in the diet during childhood, by age 20, he will be eating the 25 grams of fiber recommended for adults. As with any dietary recommendation, if your child is on a special diet prescribed by a doctor, do not make adjustments without first discussing them with the physician.

Surveys show that older children and teens eat about 11-12 grams of fiber each day, less than the recommended amount. Consider the following ideas to "fiber up" your child's diet.

• Children will be more successful at adding fiber to their diet if they have family support and adult models to follow. Offer and eat foods rich in fiber to their diet if they have family support and adult models to follow. Offer and eat foods rich in fiber such as fruits, vegetables, whole grain foods, and cooked dried beans, peas and lentils.

• The daily fiber goal can be met if the child's diet includes two vegetables, three fruits, a sandwich made with two slices of whole wheat bread, a serving of breakfast cereal containing at least three grams of fiber, and one or two servings of other fiber rich foods.

• Make breakfast a morning priority! In the study of 10 year olds, 19% of their dietary fiber needs came from breakfast. Breakfast provides an easy way to get whole grain bread, cereal or muffins, and fresh fruit into the menu. Of course, breakfast is also important for a child's growth and development and helps kids do better in school.

• Use the Nutrition Facts food label on food packages to find out how much fiber is in a serving of a food. For example, brown bread may or may not be a source of fiber. Check the label to find out. Also, look for breakfast cereals that have 3 to 5 grams of fiber for each serving.

• Gradually increase the amount of fiber in the diet especially for children who have been eating a low fiber diet. Increasing the amount of fiber too quickly can cause abdominal cramping, decrease appetite, and weight loss.

• Fiber acts like a sponge in the intestine, absorbing water from the body. As fiber increases in the diet, so does the need for fluid. The average child will need to drink 6 to 10 cups of fluid each day, with children active in sports needing even more.

The chart below lists the amount of fiber in selected foods.

Dairy Of Distinction Program Again Seeks Nice Looking Farms

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) - Do you take pride in maintaining your dairy farm? Does your dairy farm project an attractive, wholesome image to consumers? If so, the Dairy of Distinction Program of Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey, will consider your farm for the program's annual recognition awards.

The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program that oversees the Distinction program was first started in 1983 in Pennsylvania to recognize the hard work and dedication of the farmers who maintain attractive farms. The purpose of the program is to instill a greater sense of confidence in the wholesomeness of dairy products, and increase their sales.

Farms that apply are judged on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds, and surroundings, since this is what our dairy product consumers observe as they drive by the farm.

The cleanliness of the barnyard, feed areas, and manure management are all areas taken into consideration when a team of judges takes a look at your farm from a roadside point of view. Judging is conducted during the month of May. Award winners are announced during your local June Dairy Month activities.

To qualify for consideration, you must be actively dairy farming and shipping milk.

Applications are available for Pennsylvania dairy farms from Michael O'Conner, 324 Henning Building, Dept. of Dairy and Animal Science, Penn State University, University Park, PA 16802. Phone: (814) 863-3913.

For New York State applications are available from Carol Keene, RD 1, Box 31, Gilbertsville, NY 13776. Phone: (607) 783-2169.

For New Jersey applications, send to: August Knispel, 641 Sidney Road, Pittstown, NJ 08867. Phone: (908) 735-4989.

For Vermont applications, send to: Elisa Clancy, Vermont Department of Agriculture, 16 State St., Drawer 20, Montpelier, VT 05620-2901. Phone: (802) 828-3835.

All applications must be completed and returned to your respective state secretary by April 15, 1999.

The Dairy of Distinction program is financed in Pennsylvania by Dairy Farmers through the American Dairy Association Dairy Council and Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program in cooperation with many local agribusiness organizations. The program is conducted with advice and help from Penn State Cooperative Extension.

Dairy of Distinction 1999 Pennsylvania Application

PURPOSE OF PROGRAM

Attractive dairy farms give the consumer greater confidence in the wholesomeness of milk and stimulate milk sales which encourages public support for the dairy industry. The award gives recognition to the dairy farmer for maintaining a well-kept farmstead.

ELIGIBILITY

All Northeast dairy farms producing milk for sale are invited to submit an application for the award. Farms receiving the 10 highest scores in each of the 21 districts will receive an 18" x 24" Dairy of Distinction sign to be displayed in front of their farm.

Dairy of Distinction

Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, Inc.

Awards will be based upon neatness, good maintenance and other factors which can be controlled by the farmer. Attractive background scenery should not be weighed heavily in judging. All judging observations should be made from a vehicle at one or more points on an adjacent public highway (or if farm is off the road, the nearest lane) Judging should give equal consideration to old wood construction and new construction of metal or concrete block.

The award program may be used for subsequent advertising or promotion activities for dairy products or dairy farming. Farmers who apply for awards agree that; if selected they will cooperate with these activities and make all reasonable efforts to maintain both the exterior and interior of their properties in an acceptable condition

HOW THE APPLICATION WORKS

The owner or operator of the dairy farm should sign the application and send it to NEDFBP secretary by April 15.

HOW THE JUDGING WORKS

Judging teams will visit farms during the month of May. Farms will be judged each year as the award is presented on an annual basis. Any dairy failing to maintain appearance standards will be asked to remove their sign. The Dairy of Distinction signs remain the property of the committee, not the property of the dairy farmer. All farms must achieve a compliance score of 90 percent on their Dairy of Distinction score card. Your cooperative or milk handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality.

RULES FOR THE DAIRY OF DISTINCTION AWARD

1). The Dairy of Distinction sign remains the property of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Committee

2). The post and bracket shall be supplied by and maintained by the dairy farmer. It is suggested that a wood post 4' x 4' x 12' or iron pipe 2' x 12' be used. Posts or pipe should be installed and maintained in true vertical position with 8' above ground. Top of the bracket shou'd be lower than six inches from the top of the post.

3). Sign shall be displayed in front of the dairy at roadside. An attractive post and bracket, or other frame, shall be used to display the sign. No more than three signs should be displayed from the sign frame or post, and all shall be of a style, general size and quality comparable to the Dairy of Distinction sign. Sign should be secured on all sides to avoid wind damage.

4). Signs shall not be moved to other premises. New owners of a Dairy of Distinction farm must apply to retain the sign.

5). Replacement of damaged signs shall be the discretion of the committee.

6). No producer shall be charged with scoring or sign expense.

7). Judges' decisions will be final.

8). Judging will take place between May 1st and May 31st.

9) Farms awarded a Dairy of Distinction sign in previous years will be judged between April 1st and April 30th. If they do not qualify, they will be rejudged between May 1st and May 31st so they have the opportunity to keep the sign.

10) Farms that do not requalify will return the sign to their regional Dairy of Distinction Committee.

QUESTION — A reader recently purchased a small farm in Lancaster County with a 4,000 square foot tobacco barn on it. The barn is in excellent condition. Can anyone suggest an appropriate charge to rent out the tobacco barn?

ANSWER — Robert Atwell, Middlefield, Ct., wanted to know how to get rid of skunks that have taken up residence beneath his small barn. He doesn't want to trap or shoot them. The skunks roam the yard in early evening hours during the summer, forcing the family inside. They tried putting mothballs around the perimeter of the yard, which seemed to work until they dissolved. Thanks to Amos Beiler, Quarryville, who writes they had a similar problem until they got a dog. They keep the dog chained outdoors at night and at sundown. At first, they feared the dog would be sprayed, but that never happened. The skunks disappeared presumally scared off by the dog's barking.

ANSWER — Edna Leinbach, Loysville, has several large aloe vera plants and wanted to know how to use the plants to make aloe-vera creams, shampoos, jels, etc. Thanks to Joyce Raubenstine who sent in a recipe she clipped from a newspaper but never used. To prepare herb ointment or salve, crush the leaves of the aloe vera and mix with four parts melted fat (pure, rendered lard or vegetable shortening) and one part dry white wine. Heat gently for 20 minutes, cool slightly, and strain.

Mixture can be used for dressing pet wounds and to keep the area from crusting over. It also keeps insects off the wounds. It is great for treating human burns.

Seedling, Wildflower Sale

HACKETTSTOWN, N.J. — The Warren County Soil Conservation District is hosting its annual Seedling & Wildflower Sale in a continuing effort to promote reforestation and beautification of the countryside. Grown trees offer wind and sound breaks, buffers, and simple beautification of one's property. While trees are a planting of a larger scale, on a smaller scale we are offering wildflower seeds to add beauty to any countryside.

The three-year-old seedlings will be sold in easily hand-held bundles of 25 trees at a cost of $12 per bundle. The following species will be available: Colorado Blue Spruce, Douglas Fir, Norway Spruce, Eastern White Pine, and the Japanese Black Pine. The seedlings will be distributed on April 22 and 23 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and April 24 from 8:30 a.m. till noon. The deadline for tree seedling orders is April 15.

Along with our six variety mixes of seeds, two single blends, Tickseed and the Purple Coneflower, have been added. Orders are accepted on a first-come/first-served basis. The wildflower seeds will be distributed between April 15 and June 11. No mail orders will be accepted after June 1, so order early! All seedlings and wildflowers must be paid for in advance.

Along with every order a Bluebird box will be included free, courtesy of the Warren County Soil Conservation District and the Bayside State Prison in Leesburg, N.J.

For information, please call the Warren County Soil Conservation District in Hackettstown N.J. at (908) 852-2579.

ANSWER — In answer to the request for canning carrots in a hot water bath, Mrs. Pierce, Palmyra, writes that she uses this procedure: Clean and cut carrots in slices. Put in pint jars, fill with water, and put in ½ teaspoon salt. Scald two-piece lids, put on jars and tighten. Place jars in canner filled with water to the jar rim. Bring to a boil and boil 1½ hours. If canned in quart jars, use 1 teaspoon salt and boil 3 hours.

ANSWER — Martha Gerber, Littlestown, wanted a recipe to make honey/mustard pretzels. Thanks to Ruthie Fisher, Mifflin, for sending the following recipe.

Honey Mustard Pretzels

1 pound broken hard pretzels
1 cup melted butter
1 package honey Dijon dry salad mix
1 teaspoon dill

ANSWER — G. Sweitzer, Airville, wanted to know how much salicylic acid to use when canning sweet corn and if the acid can be used to preserve other canned products. Thanks to Chris Martin, East Earl, for writing that she has used the following two recipes with success but has never used it for vegetables other than corn. She writes: Always use 2 teaspoons salicylic acid, which keeps corn from spoiling. It can be purchased from Stauffer's Drug Store, 149 E. Main St., New Holland, PA 17557 or call (717) 355-9300.

Canned Corn

1 cup sugar
½ cup salt
2 teaspoons salicylic acid
5 cups water

Canned Corn
Less Sugar and Salt

14 cups corn
½ cup sugar
⅓ cup salt
2 teaspoons salicylic acid
5 cups water

Boil open kettle 20 minutes and pack in clean hot jars.

ANSWER — Doris Fenninger, New Holland, wanted to know how to can soups and how long it can be kept after processing. Thanks to Ada Nolt, Leola, for sending recipes.

Chicken Noodle Soup

2 quarts sliced carrots
2 quarts celery, sliced
2 quarts potatoes, peeled, diced
Onion or onion powder, if desired
Parsley sprigs
1 gallon partly cooked kluski noodles
8 quarts water
20 chicken bouillion cubes, dissolved
Salt to taste

Cook chicken then cook noodles in chicken broth. Cook each vegetable separately. Mix together all ingredients in large container and fill jars, leaving 1-inch headspace. Adjust caps. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure, 40 minutes for pints or 55 minutes for quarts. Makes about 12 quarts. To serve: add a little water and heat to boiling.

Split Pea Soup

2¼ cups dried split peas
2½ quarts water
1 ham hock
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup sliced carrots
Salt to taste

Cover peas with cold water. Soak 12 to 18 hours in a cool place. Drain. Add 2½ -quarts water, ham hock, and vegetables; bring to boiling. Cover and simmer 2 hours or until peas are tender. Remove ham hocks; cut meat into small pieces. Press vegetables through sieve or food mill if necessary for desired consistency. Salt to taste.

Pour hot mixture into jars leaving one-inch head space. Adjust caps. Process in pressure canner in pints for 50 minutes, in quarts for one hour at 10 pounds pressure. Yields about 6 pints.

Award-Winning Alfalfa Grower Understands Vital Role Of Good Workers

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

NAZARETH (Northampton Co.) — Bob Oswald admits there is no secret to growing prize-winning alfalfa.

Simply put, Oswald surrounds himself with good employees, trusts the work of his crop assistant, takes care of his fertile soil, and carefully times the cutting and drying of his crop.

Oswald narrows his management down to a few time-tested strategies that can almost guarantee success: making the most of good, well-drained soils; soil testing regularly, and cutting the alfalfa on time and getting it stored when ready.

"I do it right or I don't do it," he said. "I love what I'm doing and that makes me care."

Oswald manages 700 acres of corn, 400 acres of soybeans, 120 acres of alfalfa hay, and 75 acres of wheat on about 1,295 acres for his dairy enter

New Pocket Guide To Field Corn IPM Available

ITHACA, N.Y. — Integrated Pest Management (IPM) is an approach that uses knowledge from any disciplines to enhance profitability, optimize environmental stewardship, and protect human health.

Minimizing reliance on chemical pesticides is one important goal of IPM. A new "IPM Field Corn Pocket Guide" brings together in a compact format information needed for successful integrated pest management and integrated crop management (ICM) for field corn growers in the Northeast and their advisers. A collaborative work by experts from across the region, the "IPM Field Corn Pocket Guide," IPM—1 (January 1999, 280 pages), is available from NRAES, the Natural Resource, Agriculture, and Engineering Service, for $7 plus shipping and handling and sales tax.

Some key principles if IPM include management strategies such as crop rotation, site selection, and hybrid selection; identification of pests, environmental stress, nutritional deficiency, or other factors as causes of field problems; sampling or scouting to assess the damage potential of pests; weighing of costs, benefits, and risks of cultural, mechanical, biological, and chemical controls; and implementation of pest control at optimal times in the life cycles of pests and crops.

After an introductory overview, the "IPM Field Corn Pocket Guide" concisely presents information for scouting and managing insect pests, beneficial insects, corn plant diseases, and vertebrate pests, grass weeds, and broadleaf weeds. Also covered are plant and soil health and fertility and postharvest storage. Appendixes include useful formulas, conversions, and comparisons.

Offering guidance on identifying and managing insect weed, and vertebrate pests as well as nutritional deficiencies, the 280-age publication includes more than 80 line drawings, 18 color plates, and more than 40 tables — all in a handy 3¼ -inch by 6-inch format. Five fold-out reference charts provide insect pest action thresholds, management alternatives, and sampling strategies; pictorial keys to grasses and broadleaf weeds; and "Be Your Own Corn Doctor" full-color diagnostic illustrations.

The "IPM Field Corn Pocket Guide" was developed with the help of funding from the Northeast Region Sustainable Agriculture Research and Education Program (SARE), expertise of Cooperative Extension faculty and staff, and contributions from several other institutions. It was produced by staff of the New York State IPM Program including Karen Edelstein, Carrie Koplinka-Loehr, James VanKirk, and J. Keith Waldron. The interdisciplinary team of contributing authors for the guide included Carl Bannon, formerly of Cornell Cooperative Extension; Gary Bergstrom, Department of Plant Pathology, Cornell University; Jean Conklin, University of New Hampshire Cooperative Extension; Karen Edelstein, New York State IPM Program; Nancy Gift, Department of Soil, Crop, and Atmospheric Science, Cornell University; Frank Himmelstein, University of Connecticut Cooperative Extension; Gordon Johnson, University of Delaware Cooperative Extension; Phil Sutton, formerly of Cornell Cooperative Extension; and J. Keith Waldron, Cornell Cooperative Extension. James VanKirk, Northeast Region IPM served as principal investigator.

"IPM Field Corn Pocket Guide," IPM-1, is available for $7 per copy plus shipping and handling, from NRAES, Cooperative Extension, 152 Riley-Robb Hall, Ithaca, NY 14853-5701. Shipping and handling for one copy is $3.50 within the continental United States. (New York State residents must add 8 percent sales tax.) All major credit cards are accepted, and checks should be made payable to NRAES. District Announces Poster, Essay Winners

HACKETTSTOWN, N.J. — The Warren County Soil Conservation District has announced the results of its 1999 Conservation Poster and Essay Contest. This year's topic was "How Preserving Farmland Benefits Everyone in New Jersey." Only four schools in Warren County participated this year. They were Independence Central School in Independence, Green Street School in Phillipsburg, Stewartsville Elementary in Stewartsville, and North Warren Regional in Blairstown.

The schools that did compete did an excellent job, and the final selections were tough, but the district was hoping for more participation of the remaining schools in Warren County.

The Warren County Soil Conservation District is offering this excellent opportunity for children to express themselves verbally and/or artistically. Hopes of this contest are not to be another "dreaded homework assignment" but to make them look at the world around them.

The finalists from these schools will be awarded savings bonds according to their rank: first place, $100; second place, $75; third place, $50. Only the work of the first place winners will be sent on to Trenton, N.J. to compete in the state-level competition.

Winners of the poster contest are

• 2nd to 3rd Grade Category, first place, Tyler Palma from Independence Central School; second place, Elizabeth DeHuff from Independence Central School; and third place, Chantal Lattig from Green St. School in Phillipsburg.

• 4th to 6th Grade Category, first place, Kurt Avard from Stewartsville Elementary; second place, Lauren Weeks from Stewartsville Elementary; and third place, Meghan Brown from Stewartsville Elementary.

• 7th to 8th Grade Category, first place, Rachel Mockler form North Warren Regional.

Winners of the essay Contest:

• 7th to 8th Grade Category, first place, Christopher Devenney from North Warren Regional; second place, Tiffany Morelli from North Warren Regional; and third place, Cassidy Condit from North Warren Regional.

Once in Trenton, the Warren County finalists will compete against other soil conservation districts that sponsored this event in their counties. First place winners will be invited to a special awards ceremony in late May. State finalists will receive a certificate and a bond depending on their placement — 1st place receives a $200 bond, second place receives a $100 bond, and third place receives a $50 bond. This event will be hosted by the New Jersey Department of Agriculture, the New Jersey Association of Conservation Districts, and the State Soil Conservation Committee.

For the first place poster winners, it doesn't end there. These winners from Trenton go on to compete against other state finalists in a National Competition sponsored by the National Association of Conservation Districts at the National Meeting in League City, Texas sometime after Dec. 15.

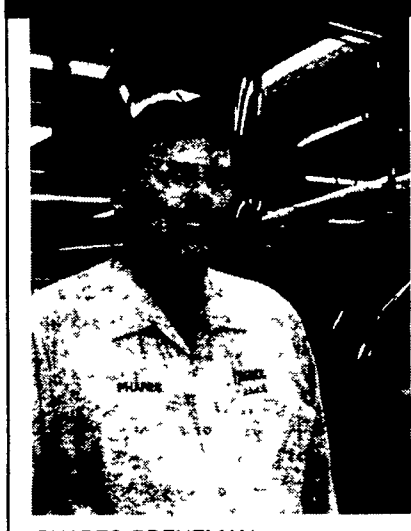
OUR PEOPLE MAKE THE DIFFERENCE



PHARES BRENEMAN,
LEAD TECHNICIAN, TRACTORS

At Hoober, Inc. it's our people that define Advanced Machinery Service. People like Phares Breneman, who has worked at Hoober for 24 years. During that time, Phares has repaired and serviced thousands of tractors for Hoober customers. Phares is a Hoober tractor transmission specialist; tractors are the only product line he services. And while Phares still continues to attend every factory school on transmissions, it's his years of experience plus his commitment to fixing tractor transmissions right the first time that makes him so valuable to Hoober customers. If you have a problem with your tractor, Phares can identify the problem quickly, saving you money.

Phares Breneman, an example of how Hoober's commitment to Advanced Machinery Service makes a difference for you.

CASE IH 955 Cyclo Planters

And only a Case International 950 Early Riser Planter, with its exclusive Cyclo® Air System, pays close attention to all six:

(1) Planted to the moisture level;
(2) Uniform depth;
(3) Evenly spaced;
(4) Good seed-to-soil contact;
(5) Uniform soil pressure; and
(6) Accurate population.

The Tractor You'll Never Outgrow

Introducing the New Case IH CX Series General Purpose Tractors

- 40 to 84 horsepower
- Perfect for all loader and hay forage applications
- Quiet, spacious cabs provide superior comfort and visibility
- Powerful, turbocharged engines offer up to 37% torque rise
- Forward/reverse shuttle for faster cycle times
- Smooth-shifting transmission stands up to the toughest operating conditions

You can count on us for high-quality farming systems, genuine Case IH parts, superior service and flexible financing. CASE CREDIT Bringing people and product together® PRODUCT SUPPORT COMMITTED TO EVERY PART

SE8
In Stock

The Rhino® SE8 is an economical rotary mower designed to help maintain larger acreages of grass, weeds, stalks, or material up to 1" in diameter.

The streamlined, close-coupled design allows economical operation on tractors as small as 30 horsepower on the SE8 and 45 horsepower on the SE10 The 85 HP center gearbox and 60 HP outboard gearboxes are protected from sudden shockloads by a slip clutch on the main driveline and torque dampeners on the side driveshafts Pan blade carriers help the unit glide over field obstacles and updraft blades with a 4' blade overlap provide a clean cut

Good Financing With

The Goal: Uniform Seed Distribution*

If you want precision seeding, you need a new Case IH 5300 Series Grain Drill from Binkley & Hurst Bros No matter if you plant small grain or soybeans!

The Game Plan: Case IH 5300 Grain Drill

Designed for precision planting in solid or extra-narrow row patterns to maximize yields.

- Exclusive diagonal-lipped fluted-roll seed cups ensure uniform seed distribution.
- Close-coupled maneuverability.
- Large-capacity seed hopper to cover extra acres between refills.

A Special Feature For All Case IH Grain Drills
Fluted Roll Feed Cup Assemblies Save Seed and Save Time
A known fact that Case IH die-cast zinc alloy feed cups are superior to other competitive brands Long life comes from oil-impregnated, molded sintered metal insters act as a positive bearing surface to surround and support the fluted roll.

Large throat clearance allows the handling of big seeds and prevents seed damage

Fluted roll is precision-molded and won't freeze up during the idle periods

Shut-off block is molded of steel and delivers consistent cup to cup seeding accuracy Exclusive tapered metered edge at the bottom of the feed cup provides unexcelled seeding accuracy, even seed flow, and more uniform spacing

For replacement parts for your existing drill, buy Case IH quality from our Parts Dept. Now! Precision engineered to fit your grain drill exactly!
And you get more than a precision grain drill You can count on us for genuine, value-priced parts, professional and reliable service support, and flexible financing

CASE IH PRODUCT SUPPORT COMMITTED TO EVERY PART

Down And Tangled Undergrowth?

No Problem!

Case IH Disc Mower Conditioner

Non-stop cutting for higher productivity.

- Clean cut at higher ground speeds
- Faster cutting in dense or tangled crops and over obstacles
- Overhead frame design allows unrestricted crop flow
- Automatic roll separating system eliminates plugging

Designed, tested and manufactured by Case IH at its Hesston, Kansas facility.

Fits the way you farm
- 9' side-pull of 12' cutting widths available
- Choice of intermeshing conditioner rolls to match your needs
- Quick-convert from field to transport mode

Along with dependable mower conditioners, you can count on us for genuine Case IH parts, professional and reliable service support and flexible financing.

The disc design provides for fast cutting in the most adverse conditions–dense undergrowth, tangled prairie grass, rocks, animal obstacles (gopher mounds, ant hills, etc.)

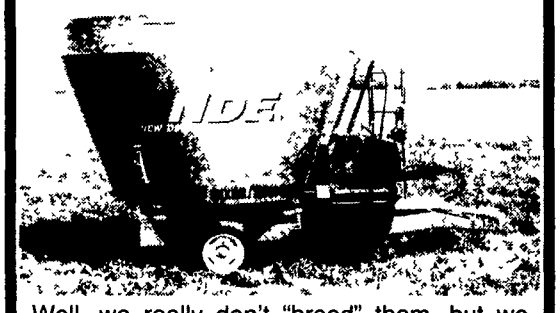
We Breed Champions, Too!



Well, we really don't "breed" them, but we feel each mixer that we produce is a champion in every way. We take great care in designing each machine before it is built. We also track each machine after it leaves our facility, making sure it is delivered to you on time, and ready to go to work the minute it is off the truck. We then follow the life of the Mixer, making sure that the customer is happy with the machine, long after the sale. If you want a company that takes as much pride in their product as we know you do in yours, give us a call.

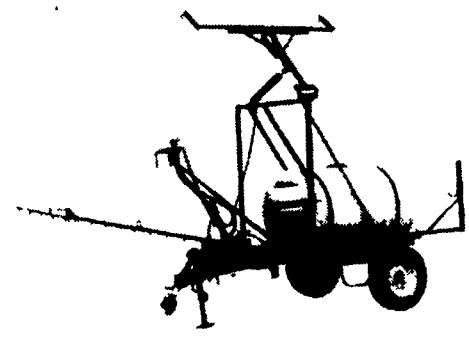
At Last...



...a Boom Sprayer

for multi-crop produce farmer that is affordable and will do the job from sweet corn to melon crops.

With features like...

- 74 ft. one-side boom that allows for 50 ft. coverage between drive rows.
- Easy boom height adjustment from 2 ft. to 7 1/2 ft. for sweet corn.
- Hydraulic leveling on the go allows uniform boom height from the crop.
- 280 PSI, 28 GPM 3 diaphragm pump with power shaft for quick hookup.
- Adjustable wheel spacing and tongue height.
- NEW A-spring loaded hydraulic shock to control boom bounce.

Available with 300 or 400 Gallon Tanks

With the high cost of chemicals, the right sprayer is needed

DESIGNED WITH THE FARMER IN MIND!

Gehl's All-New SL 4635 & 4835 "35 Series" Skid Loaders

Today's farmsteads require a versatile and powerful machine to handle a broad range of material handling jobs. And Gehl's 4635 and 4835 "35 Series" skid loaders fit those needs in more ways than one. Easy to maneuver with high all-around visibility, Gehl skid loaders get the job done in the tightest confines. Plus they offer the power and stability needed to lift your heaviest loads and dig through hardpacked materials. Requiring little maintenance and with built-in features for operator comfort and safety, Gehl's 4635 and 4835 skid loaders are the unit of choice for a wide range of agriculture applications

New Holland lets you bale wet or dry

If you want to make hay, straw or silage, look no further than the New Holland Model 644 Silage Special round baler. The "644" is filled with features you demand so you can bale the way you want.

- Bale-Slice™ option (on Fastnet™ model) cuts the crop as the bale is being formed so it's easier to feed or grind
- Wide, floating pickup for large windrows
- Endless belts for added durability in tough crops

Stop in today and start rounding up your fields

Built for the long haul

The New Holland Model 185 is a spreader you won't buy too often because it's going to be with you for a long time. Here's why:

- Corrosion-resistant steel sides
- Indestructible plastic floor boards (HDPE)
- 12-year guarantee for FREE floor and sides if they fail

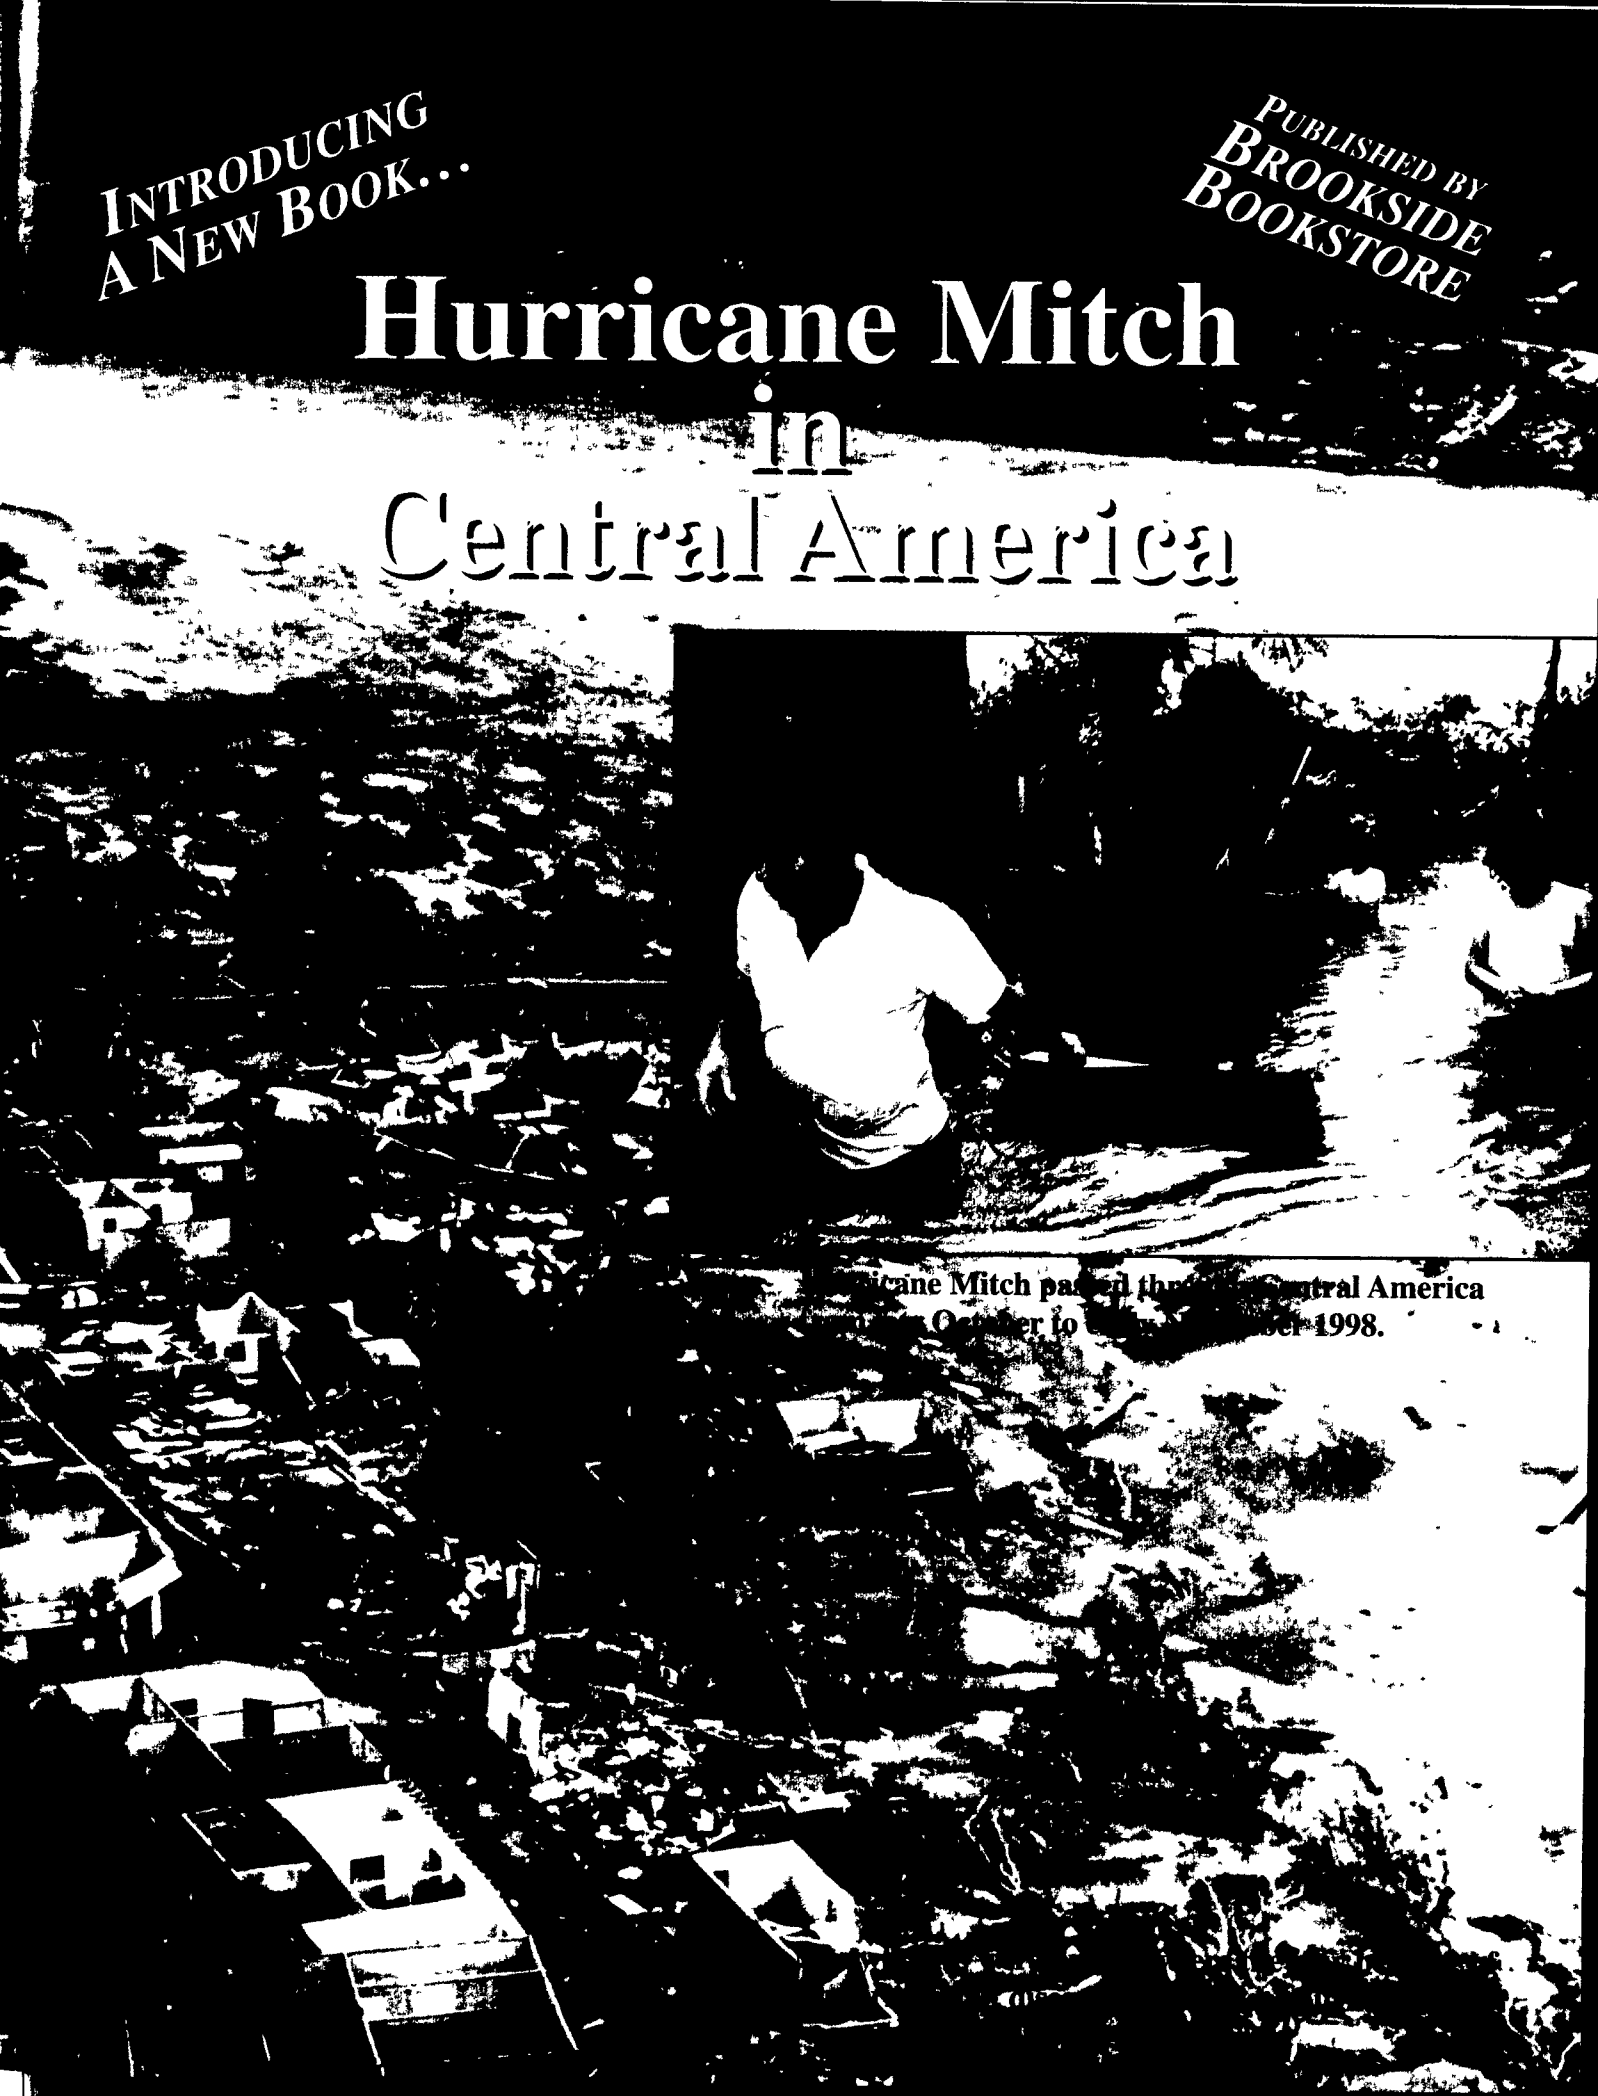
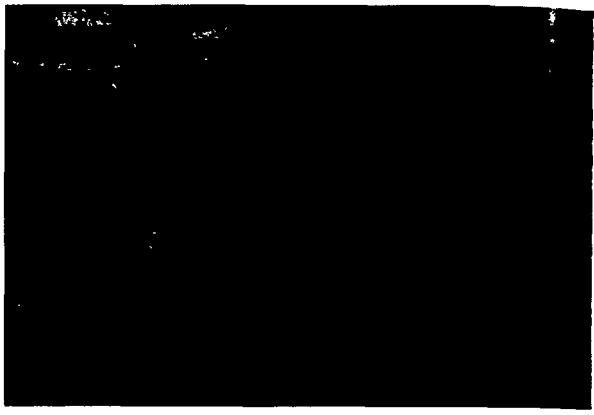
Hurricane Mitch in Central America



...ricane Mitch pa...ed thr... Central America
O...ber to ...ber 1998.

Mitch leaves nation in ruins



No water. No food. No electricity. No phones. Few houses remain; many people sleep in a fruit packing plant.

No roads. No bridges. The only access is by helicopter, but flights are rare—usually to evacuate sick or injured.

As people look at bean and corn fields, plantain and banana plants, yucca stalks and rice all equally laid to waste by Hurricane Mitch, they worry about hunger. They worry about people stealing what little there is left. And they worry about merchants taking advantage of the situation. This is particularly true in the Mosquitia, where between 90 and 100 percent of crops were lost.

Rescue teams were undermanned and underequipped to help the thousands stranded on rooftops or high ground. Telephone service and electricity were down in many communities. And the initial lack of police or military presence in the cities allowed hundreds of looters to ransack unprotected residences and businesses.

When I came inside the room, Ignacia, a young woman of 22, stood up and walked toward me as if she wanted to say something, but didn't. instead, she returned to her chair and sat there while looking at me silently. I explained to her I wanted to conduct an interview, and perhaps the chance of being taken note of in the middle of all those thousands of people encouraged her to come forward.

"I come from la Colonia Villa Nueva, Sector 2; do you know where it is?" she told me. "Well, our house had sunk in the edge of the ravine. We lost all our possessions; we get a little bread and a cup of coffee. I give a little bit of bread to my kid next to me because babies and little kids won't get milk until the next day at ten. That's about it."

Bodies are everywhere, victims of landslides and the waters. The most conservative calculations estimate thousands, not hundreds of deaths. Many municipal governments have begun to run out of food and potable water. The capital of Republic is in a disastrous, calamitous situation. On top of it all, the death of Tegucigalpa Mayor Dr. César Castellanos in a fatal helicopter accident while working with relief efforts has left citizens desolate.

Overflowing rivers and landslides have caused complete barrios to disappear even though extensive preventive efforts were made for early evacuations, but still not all the affected were able to be saved; many victims have for more than five days sat on the roofs of their homes, without food, exposed to the weather, waiting to be rescued.

Damage to infrastructure, agriculture estimated in the billions

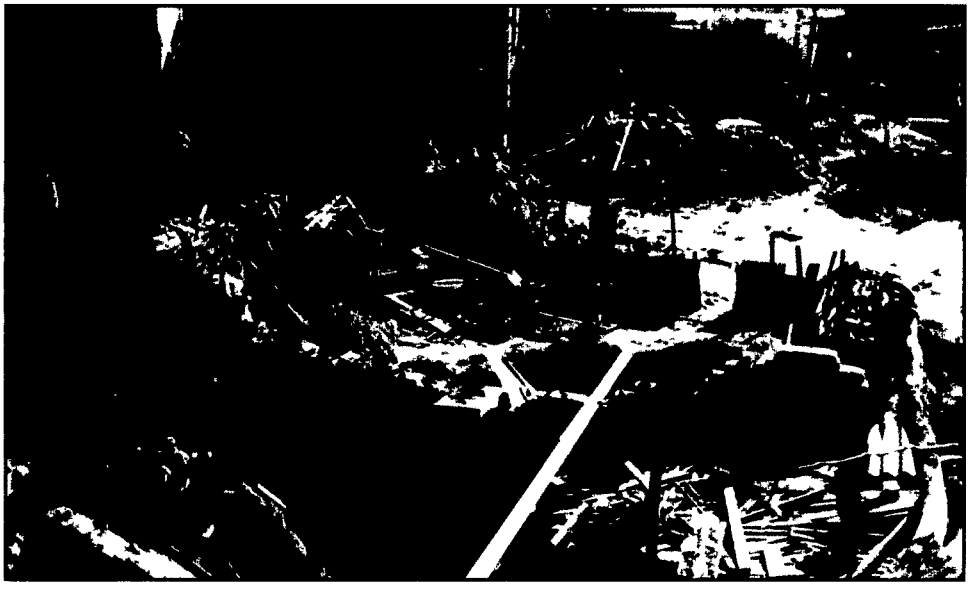
My head flushed. At first I wondered if we had yogurt, vegetables and bread. But those foodstuffs had long since perished and if we couldn't cook the pasta and rice, our cabinet looked depauperate. Without gas I reasoned, we don't eat. Corn flakes and rainwater milk won't do. I felt my face tighten as I mumbled.

Residents say that during the dawn of Saturday (Oct. 31), flood waters forced them to higher ground three times before they could climb no further. From this final high point they decided to abandon the area, cutting across a coffee field to find access to El Chile Bridge that leads into Tegucigalpa.

Unfortunately the bridge was also covered with water and several people were washed off. The timely arrival of Boy Scout Leader German Rivera and his troop of scouts proved a godsend. The scouts were able to pull out the people hanging on the bridge and no one perished.

Arriving in Tegucigalpa, the damage took my breath away. Streets–where not long before I had gone walking–were a mess of smashed houses, tons of sludge and small rivers. It was hard to remember where the river had originally been. There was a huge lake in the center, half a hillside collapsed, and the walls of houses twisted and tossed about like bits of scrunched-up paper.

Nearly everyone had their Hurricane Mitch story. One friend, returning from Tegucigalpa (normally a journey of about 4 hours) was marooned by a river for 2 nights and took 3 days to reach home. Another saw a destroyed container park in the south, the containers scattered like a schoolboy's marbles, smashing into houses, killing many.



It was the worst natural disaster in the history of the country in terms of the amount of area affected.

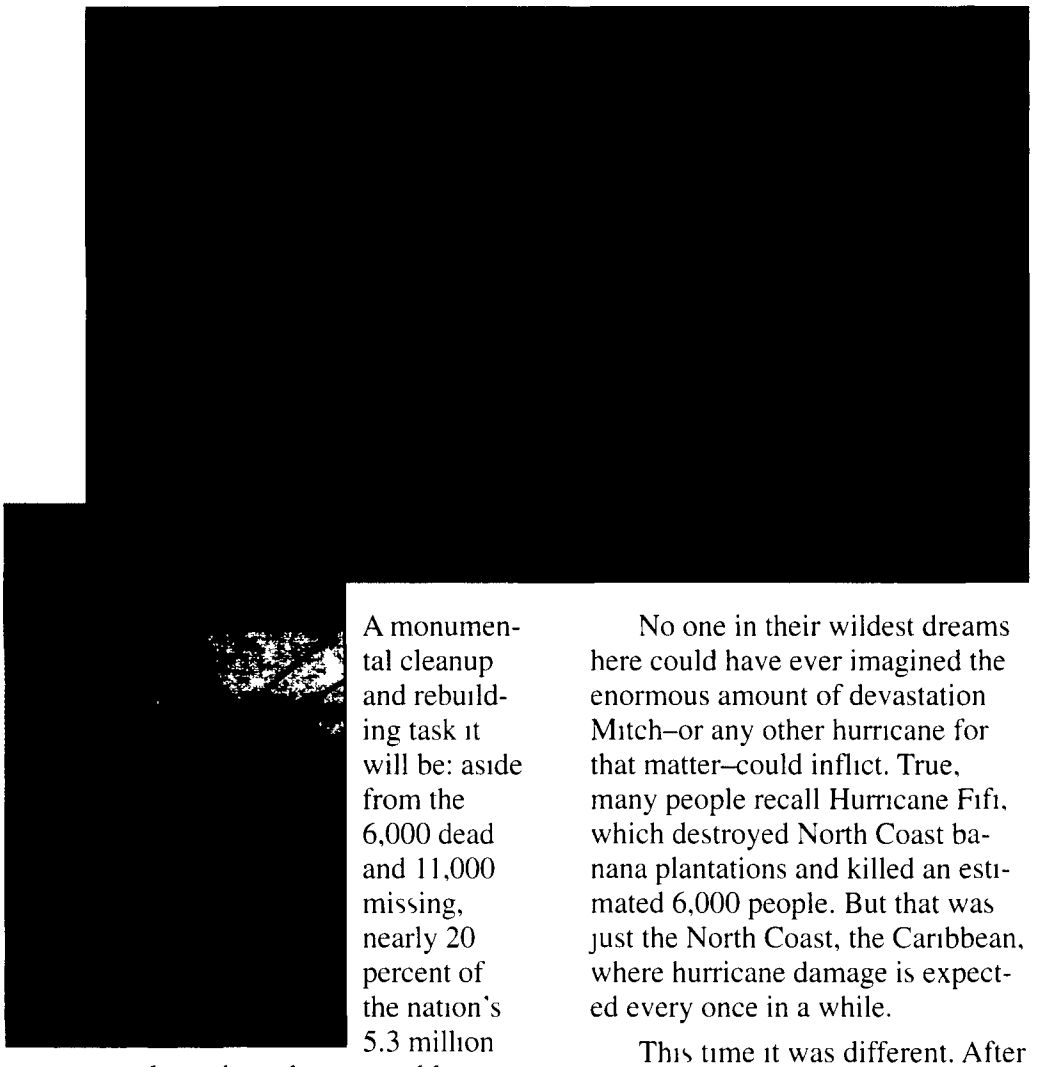
Appealing for international help, Honduras' President announced that his country's developments had been set back 50 years...

"It's a mess," team leader John Tanner said as volunteers with the nonprofit Christian group from Watersmeet, Michigan, began attending to people with diarrhea, foot ailments, conjunctivitis.

Precipitation estimates for Mitch for the total storm event in Honduras and Nicaragua have ranged from 50 to 75 inches for locations receiving the heaviest rainfall. These values are not unreasonable considering the tropical location and the altitude of the mountainous terrain. In one incident, Mitch reportedly produced 25 inches of rain in just six hours! With the infrastructure damaged so severely, it is unlikely that actual precipitation measurements for Mitch will be available from many areas.



A monumental cleanup and rebuilding task it will be: aside from the 6,000 dead and 11,000 missing, nearly 20 percent of the nation's 5.3 million people are homeless or unable to return to their homes due to flooding and as much as 60 percent of the nation's infrastructure and 70 percent of the crops were destroyed.

No one in their wildest dreams here could have ever imagined the enormous amount of devastation Mitch–or any other hurricane for that matter–could inflict. True, many people recall Hurricane Fifi, which destroyed North Coast banana plantations and killed an estimated 6,000 people. But that was just the North Coast, the Caribbean, where hurricane damage is expected every once in a while.

This time it was different. After slowly moving west toward Belize and the Yucatán peninsula, Mitch—a rare category 5 hurricane with sustained winds reaching 180 mph on Oct. 27—suddenly veered south, first pounding the island of Guanaja then moving onto the Honduran mainland.

Not only did bridges and electric lines as well need to be rebuilt, but hunger, disease and thieves would soon be falling on the homeless, aptly called "damnificados" in Spanish. Pockets of banana workers and farming communities were trapped all over the landscape at road ends turned into mud pits, by piles of fallen trees, or behind swampy low lands.

After hovering over the North Coast of Honduras for three days causing extensive damage and irreplaceable loss, Hurricane Mitch moved south.

OCTOBER 27, 1998

The rain's incessant pounding of zinc roofs nearly deafened me trying to catch rainwater on the porch. Inside, the refrigerator was bleeding ice water all over the floor. We had no running water, nonetheless, and despite his best efforts, mud on the floor, flies on partially washed dishes, and a toilet that did not flush all conspired to keep us busy.

Dramatic experiences as told by survivors.

Volunteers used ropes to pull the basket, with five or six passengers aboard, across the 65-foot gap in the bridge. About 100 passengers crossed every hour, 13 hours a day. Some passengers covered their eyes while the basket, just 3 feet wide, 3 feet long and 3 feet deep, swayed above the river.

FARMER Banquet May 3

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — Stephen Reed, the longest serving mayor in Harrisburg history, will be the guest speaker at the 19th Annual FARMER Banquet Monday, May 3 at the Hotel Hershey.

FARMER, Farmers Allied for Responsive More Effective Representation, is the bipartisan political action committee of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau.

Reed, who is serving his fifth consecutive term, was first elected mayor and chief executive officer of Harrisburg in 1982 at the age of 32. Under his leadership, the highest level of private investment in city history has been realized, amounting to more than $2.1 billion. The number of businesses on city tax rolls has increased from 1,908 in 1981 to more than 5,600 in 1999.

Property values have increased from $212 million in 1981 to more than $900 million today. Programs that Reed initiated have resulted in substantial reductions in crime, fire, unemployment, and vacant property rates in the city.

Harrisburg is one of the few, if not the only Pennsylvania city, to have undergone no city government tax increase since 1987. In recognition of his accomplishments, Harrisburg has been twice named an All-American City by the National Civic League.

FARMER is dedicated to helping elect and keep "friends of agriculture" in the Pennsylvania General Assembly. FARMER endorsed and contributed to the election campaigns of 67 candidates for state House seats and 15 state Senate candidates in last year's elections.

"FARMER distributes the funds in the best possible way to advance agricultural issues and the candidates who support agriculture," said FARMER Committee chairman Ed Hartman.

This year's FARMER event will begin with a reception at 5:30 p.m. followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m. Tickets for the FARMER Banquet are $125 per person or $175 with spouse. Tickets are available by sending a personal check, payable to "FARMER," to FARMER, P.O. Box 8736, Camp Hill, PA 17001-8736. Deadline for ordering tickets is April 19.

No-Till Field Day April 10

BEAVER (Beaver Co.) — Joel Myers, NRCS state agronomist will be the featured speaker at a No-till Field Day April 10 at the Robert Lauten Farm near Fombell, from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

The program will feature demonstrations of a no-till forage drill with new seed firmer attachment and a no-till corn planter with a seed firmer, row cleaners, and spade wheel attachments.

Information about weed and insect control in no-till seedings and nutrient management will be presented by Ryan Hockensmith and Lee Miller, extension agents; Matt McCourt and Jesse Council, soil conservationists; and John Scherfel, Beaver Bounty Conservation District manager.

The program will qualify for one PDA update credit (01) agronomy. The program is sponsored by Beaver County Conservation District, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, Farm Services Agency, and Penn State Cooperative Extension.

The Lauten Farm is located one mile off Rt. 288, three miles west of Zelienople on Old Furnace Road.

Pancake/Sausage Day, Open House Slated

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — On Wednesday, April 7, White Oak Mills Inc. has scheduled an old-fashioned pancake/sausage day and open house here at its headquarters.

Having held an annual dairy customer appreciation seminar for the past 12 years, White Oak Mills is extending an invitation to all Pennsylvania and Maryland dairy, swine, poultry, and other livestock producers, customers, and industry associates to attend this year's one-day pancake/sausage event.

Activities will include mill tours and "people stress management" talks by Dr. Jim VanHorn of Pennsylvania State University, given throughout the day. Attendees may also share fellowship with industry representatives and company personnel, visit informational booths, and register for door prizes. Pancakes and sausage will be served all day.

The April 7 event will be held rain or shine from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.

To attend this free pancake/sausage day and open house, call White Oak Mills' customer service department toll-free, (800) 468-5524.

Brubaker Hires Specialists

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service, Inc. (BACS), based here, has announced that two new specialists have joined the company.

Charles "Chuck" Ward serves as an agronomic territory consultant and certified nutrient management planner. George Hazard works as a certified nutrient management planner and environmental specialist.

Chuck Ward has an extensive history working with agriculture and conservation issues in Maryland and Virginia. He was raised on a small farm in Stockton, Md. After receiving his bachelor's degree in agriculture from the University of Maryland Eastern Shore in 1992, he worked in the ag field for government and private firms.

Ward is nutrient-management certified and is knowledgeable of federal and state agricultural and environmental programs. He serves clients on the lower Delmarva Peninsula, writing nutrient management plans and consulting on more than 40 crops.

George Hazard has been hired as a certified nutrient management planner and environmental specialist. Hazard has extensive history in nutrient management, previously working for a conservation district. He is very familiar with concentrated animal feeding operation (CAFO) regulations.

Charles "Chuck" Ward

George Hazard

Hazard has served on the Mid-State Resource Conservation and Development Council board of directors, Juniata River Clean Water Steering Committee, and is a Juniata County Farm Safety Coalition member. Hazard received his bachelor's degree in biology from Penn State.

Kuhn Introduces Mixer Wagon

VERNON, N.Y. — A new mixer wagon, the Euromix II 1460, has been added to the machinery line available from Kuhn Farm Machinery, Inc., Vernon, N.Y. and Kuhn S.A., Saverne, France.

Based on years of successful sales and experience with the Euromix III Series, the Euromix II features the ability to incorporate entire large square and round bales of hay or haylage into the ration using twin horizontal rotors. Other standard features of the Euromix II 1460 include a capacity of 500 cubic feet, unloading on either the left or right, a fully independent chassis for additional strength, heavy duty construction, double planetary reduction gearbox, and an optional programmable ration scale.

Kuhn offers a number of bale unrolling and feed processing implements designed for today's progressive farmer.

Deere Announces No-Till Drills

MOLINE, Ill. — The next generation of John Deere no-till drills, the 1560 No-Till Drill and 1860 No-Till Air Drill, have replaced the 750 and 1850 drills, respectively.

The new models feature enhanced depth gauging, no-tools opener adjustment, and all-till capability. A new seedbox on the plain-grain version of the 1560 Drill provides increased capacity, and fills and empties more completely.

One of the most noteworthy features on the new 1560 No-Till Drill and the 1860 No-Till Air Drill is the new opener. It is designed and manufactured by John Deere and has more-precise depth gauging, with 13 depth settings in quarter-inch increments, compared to seven 7/16-inch increments on the previous opener.

The new design also provides two inches of vertical float before "active" hydraulic down-pressure and opener spring force are applied. This enables the opener to follow rolling terrain and run in mellow soil conditions without applying excessive down force.

The John Deere 1860 no-till air drill is available in 30-, 36-, and 42½-foot models. The drill's new no-till opener features no-tool adjustments, less maintenance, and greater operating flexibility.

Opener down-pressure can be adjusted from a minimum of 165 pounds up to 450 pounds (depending on the model). The result is accurate depth control in any seedbed conditions.

A choice of either steel or smooth-sided gauge wheels is available to match soil conditions. The smooth wheels minimize soil throw, making them particularly well suited for a wide range of conditions, including conventionally tilled fields.

Seed flow to the furrow is enhanced by a 25-percent larger steel seed tube inserted into the seed boot. A new two-piece seed boot with replaceable bottom portion helps cut maintenance time and cost.

The opener hub features a sealed double-row ball bearing that reduces maintenance. The previous opener hub used a grease fitting and roller bearing. John Deere engineers also designed a larger closing-wheel bearing and moved it from the wheel to the arm to keep it out of the soil. The bearing has an improved seal as well, to increase reliability. The press-wheel bearing seal has also been improved.

Adjusting the new opener for peak performance has never been easier. An operator can adjust seed depth in quarter-inch increments to 3½ inches and set down-pressure on the press wheel from 5 to 45 pounds, and closing wheel pressure from 26 to 43 pounds quickly, and without tools. Down pressure on each opener is set without tools, also.

Hamilton Becomes Pro Series Distributor

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Hamilton Equipment, based here and with a branch in Raphine, Va., has been appointed exclusive wholesale distributor for Pro Series products for Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Pro Series Products is a division of King Machine Company, Inc. of Scottsburg, Ind. Pro Series Products include the popular Pro Chopper bale chopper/blower and Pro Crimper mulch-crimping disc.

Hamilton Equipment will sell and service Pro Series products through its dealer network of farm equipment and commercial equipment dealers. Landscape contractors will benefit by having regional warehouses to inventory Pro Series products.

Corn Club Honors Yield Winners

HENDERSON, Nev. — The Pennsylvania Corn Club recently announced the winners of its annual yield contests

Joseph F. Matejik of Mechanicsville, Pa., was the 1998 winner in the shelled-grain class with yield of 202.6 bushels per acre.

Matejik also won a second, even more prestigious award with the announcement that he had taken first place in the Three-Year Average Awards, shelled-grain class (regular harvest size). This award recognizes good management and production practices that bring consistency to a farming enterprise

In 1996, the first year of Matejik's three-year campaign, he planted Hytest® 4682 hybrid which yielded 187.7 bushels per acre (b/a). In 1997, Matejik switched to the Hytest HT4612 hybrid which yielded 211.9 b/a. This past year, he continued with Hytest HT4612 and was able to yield 202.6 b/a for a 3-year average of 200.7 b/a.

Hytest BH4612 is a relative newcomer for Pennsylvania growers. Development trials indicate this is an aggressive hybrid that emerges fast with excellent early-season vigor.

"BH4612 displays good cold tolerance and its early-season vigor is ideal for no-till production," Matejik said. "It also has high tolerance to many foliar diseases."

The hybrid is planted throughout Midwest and Northern states. It has a relative maturity of 109 to 111 days and requires 2,495 growing degree units.

"We've planted Hytest hybrids for years with excellent results," Matejik said. "They start off fast, resist diseases, and finish strong with excellent test weights and total yield.

Matejik put together his winning program using a no-till production system. Last spring was cold and wet so his corn didn't get planted until May 15 He planted 30-inch rows into rotated soybean ground.

"In the yield contest I use my better fields, but I don't do anything special beyond that," Matejik said.

"I try to end the season with 30,000 plants per acre," he said Last year he planted a population of 33,606, a little higher than normal but it worked out okay, he said.

"To achieve maximum yields, you need a complete package Start with a dependable hybrid and develop inputs that optimize that hybrid's potential Yield contests are the fun side of production. Optimizing yields for maximum profit potential is what keeps us in business," he said.

MACHINERY SAFETY AND THE POULTRY INDUSTRY

DENNIS J. MURPHY
Professor Of Agricultural Engineering

In order to meet an ever-increasing demand for poultry in the United States, poultry farmers have long ago turned to machinery and automation to increase production and reduce manual labor. While machinery has allowed poultry farmers to fill this demand by raising more than 23 billion broilers in 1998 (USDA), farmers need to be aware of the hazards associated with the machinery.

Pinch Points

Pinch point hazards exist where two machine parts move together and at least one of them moves in a circle. Examples of pinch point hazards include where drive belts contact pulley wheels, drive chains contact gear sprockets, or where feed rolls mesh together.

Repair or replace any damaged or missing guards and shields on machinery covering these hazards. Never attempt to repair or service a machine while it is running.

Shear/Cutting Points

Shear/cutting point hazards exist where the edges of two moving parts move across one another, or a single edge moves against a stationary edge or soft material. In poultry production, augers in tubes used for feeding and moving grain are the most common example of a shear/cutting point hazard.

It may be impractical to install guards and shields on all shear/cutting point hazards on your operation. Post warnings near these areas and train personnel to avoid those hazards when machinery is operating.

Wrap Points

Wrap point hazards are from exposed rotating machine components. The most commonly known example of a wrap point hazard is from the machine's primary PTO drive line, although any exposed machine part that rotates can be a wrap point.

Components on rotating shafts or belt wheels such as keys, universal joints, couplers, pins, or other fastening devices provide the primary wrap point hazards in poultry operations. Shield these areas, if possible, and post signs warning of potential wrap point hazards.

Pull-In Points

Pull-in points are where objects are pulled into a machine for further processing. Examples of pull-in points are feed rolls and grinders.

If your operation grinds bulk corn into poultry feed, there are pull-in point hazards. Never hand-feed materials into feed rollers and grinders that are operating, and always stop the machine before trying to clear material from a plugged roller.

Lockout/Tagout

When servicing machinery in poultry houses, it is a good idea to follow the OSHA Lockout/Tagout Standard for industrial machinery and equipment.

The standard is designed to prevent the unexpected start-up, or energizing, of machinery and equipment during servicing and maintenance operations that could cause injury to employees.

Normal production operations are not covered except when an employee is required to remove or bypass a guard or other safety device, or when an employee is required to place any part of his or her body in contact with the point of operation of a machine or piece of equipment, or an associated danger zone during its operating cycle.

Although agricultural operations are specifically exempted from having to meet these lockout/tagout regulations, if an injury to an employee occurs that could have been prevented by following the Lockout/Tagout Standard, the employer can be fined for negligence. This is known as the general duty clause which states that employers must eliminate known hazards to employees.

For detailed information about the OSHA Lockout/Tagout Standard and how to implement Lockout/Tagout procedures on your farm or operation, go to the web address http://www.cdc.gov/niosh/nasd/menus/topmach8.html

Farm Bureau Introduces Junior Membership Program

GLENMONT, N.Y. — New York Farm Bureau has announced the recently launched Junior Membership Program.

Junior Membership is available for the people between the ages of 16-23 who have an interest in agriculture. For $20 per year, Farm Bureau junior members can participate in the Young Farmer and Rancher Program and receive the many benefits associated with the state's largest general farm advocacy organization.

"We're trying to foster some growth in the organization by expanding the age limit for membership," said Dale Mattoon, New York Farm Bureau young farmer and rancher chairman. "We're attempting to bridge the gap between high school or college age students and regular members. We felt that we were losing those ages in the past." Mattoon said that participation in Farm Bureau programs traditionally didn't start until people were in their late 20s.

Those taking advantage of New York Farm Bureau's Junior Membership will receive all the state and county Farm Bureau publications and be able to participate in the member discount programs, except for the insurance programs. They will also be able to take advantage of front-line education and networking opportunities. In addition, those over the age of 18 will also be able to participate in the young farmer and Rancher Achievement Award and discussion meet competitions.

More than 200 people participated in the recent Spring Conference in Rochester. Mattoon said he was encouraged by the large turnout. "A lot of those people were in this Junior Member category we're now targeting." Now the committee has the task ahead of them to recruit new members and initiate additional programs for growth and leadership development

WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

Check your silo now for rotten staves. If you have been using your silo for 10 to 15 years for either corn silage or haylage, it is time to SHOTCRETE

RESURFACES INTERIORS:

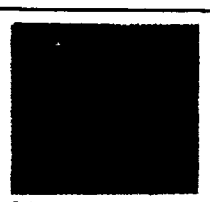
- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increase useful life
- Economical

Before The silo's interior with plaster damaged and stave exposed

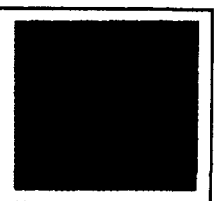
After The surface is reconditioned, and a new, thick tough surface will protect stored feed.

REPAIRS HOLES:

- Repairs even large holes
- Up to twice the strength of the original stave
- Rapid application
- Durable surface



Before A hole is worn completely through the silo wall



After With the hole repaired by ShotCrete and a new surface applied, the silo is ready for years of use

EXTENDS USEFUL LIFE:

- Support for old foundations
- Special repairs can be made quickly and economically
- Little or no forming needed
- Stronger than the original

Before The bottom part of the stave's are completely worn away

SPECIALIZING IN PRE-ENGINEERED STEEL BUILDINGS SINCE 1990

Founded in 1990 and incorporated in 1992, A S HOOVER, INC has grown rapidly for good reasons The corporation has been recognized in two recent issues of a national industry news magazine

WHY A.S. HOOVER, INC. FOR STEEL BUILDINGS?

A. SAFETY! Emphasis on strength, NO BUILDING FROM A.S. HOOVER HAS EVER COLLAPSED!

B. QUALITY AND DESIGN. In addition to commercial, agricultural, and industrial applications including cranes, buildings from HOOVER have met the strict criteria of the National, State, and Township Governments, the School District, and the Philadelphia Airport

C. PRICE! With the most of buildings coming from the lower cost South, and hauled on backhaul, plus a high volume combined with low handling overhead, HOOVER is a leader in cost per ton of steel on the jobsite

D. RELIABILITY! CECO Building Systems, originally Mitchell Buildings is one of the oldest and largest metal building firms The record of Pennsylvania German builders speaks for itself

In short, A S Hoover, Inc brings to the customer via the smaller Plain people contractors, the benefits of a larger organization while maintaining the frugality for which they are noted With concentration on efficiency and workmanship, alcohol, profanity, and blaring radios are not permitted on the job

In addition to the volume with CECO, Dealerships are also held with KIRBY (spans to 40' on 12" purlins) and CORLE (galvanized girt and purlin systems) giving unsurpassed coverage of all applications

"A GOOD REPUTATION IS SOMETHING TO LIVE UP TO, NOT TO LEAN ON"

Mighty Lite™

THE PROVEN DAIRY MAT

Still the same and still in use after more than 11 years.

- A Full 5 Year Warranty that protects you even against wear & tear in tie stall and freestall barns.
- Non-absorbent closed cell foam does not support bacterial growth.
- Non-abrasive surfacing to protect hocks, teats and udders.

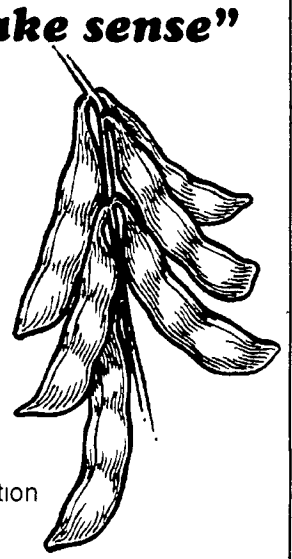
Sell your beans?
"It just doesn't make sense"

1. Why loose the 18% high energy oil in your own beans?
2. Why let the soybean processor take the valuable lechicin?
3. Why forfeit 50% of the metabolizable energy over SBM?
4. Why pay storage, trucking and shrink?



Be sensible!
Let SCHNUPP'S custom roast your Soybeans

Receive the value of added fat in your ration - MORE MILK

Get the most By-Pass Protein available in your beans - MORE PROTEIN UPTAKE

Keep all the nutritional components originally in the soybean. - MORE FLEXIBILITY

Soybeans are valuable, keep profits at home! - MORE FARM INCOME

16 FERTILIZER

FOUR SIMPLE STEPS TO SUCCESS

Step 1
Farm For Profit Step 1
SOIL MANAGEMENT
ACHIEVE
- Contains nutrients and feeders which aid in sustaining microorganisms in the soil

REMEDY
- Contains nutrients and micronutrients which aid in sustaining microorganisms in the soil

TANK MIXING
STEP 2 PLANT NUTRITION & STEP 1
We have found be adding 12 8 oz of Remedy and a small amount of Achieve per acre to the recommended amount of Farm For Profit Step 2 True Solution Starter Fertilizer and applying directly on the seed or in the seed cradle we got outstanding results

Step 2
Farm For Profit Step 2
PLANT NUTRITION
FARM FOR PROFIT TRUE SOLUTION STARTER FERTILIZER
- Near neutral pH
- 100% available
- Root zone placement
- Low salt index
- Foliar Feeding

Farm For Profit has established their own standard for quality Unlike many liquid fertilizers Farm For Profit True Solution Starter Fertilizer is a solution It is not just particles suspended in liquid Each drop contains the exact N-P-K ratio of the standard formulation Farm For Profit liquid fertilizer is consistent and stable and won t settle out It handles easily It can be stored indefinitely When it is applied, it flows evenly and cleanly Farm For Profit True Solution Starter Fertilizer meets our standard for quality

Farm For Profit Step 3
VEGETABLE OIL
1. Encapsulates the chemical
2. Helps generate uniform droplet size
3. Greatly reduces chemical evaporation
4. Reduces chemical drift
5. Increases the coverage because of its spreading and sticking ability
6. Reduces chemical wash off
7. Gives you better control of the chemicals

One of Farm For Profit's main concerns is the level of soil and water pollution found today Our goal is to remove as much petroleum base material and farm chemical from the soil as possible Farm For Profit Step 3 Vegetable Oil gives us a means to reduce the level of both petroleum base materials and farm chemicals

Farm For Profit Step 4
TRAINED FIELD PERSONNEL
The Farm For Profit Authorized Distributor or Dealer in Your Area Will
- Explain the total Farm For Profit program to you
- Explain the best fertilizer program for your operation
- Suggest ways to improve the efficiency of your chemical program
- Explain to you what other farmers have been doing to cut their operating expenses while maintaining or increasing their production output

Farmers Helping Farmers
That s what Farm For Profit is all about!
